THE CANADIAN SOO MENACED BY ANRY MOB

Unpaid Employes of the Lake Superior Company Break Every Window in the Magnificent Offices of the Bursted Company

SHOTS EXCHANGED AND TROOPS ARE CALLED OUT

The Hardware Stores Broken Into and Every Gun and Revolver Taken, as Well as All the Ammunition That Could Be Found.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 28.—A mob of the discharged employes of the Consolidated Superior Co., after being put off with promises when they demanded their promised wages, today broke away from all the restraint a large force of special police could exert and smashed every window in the magnificent office building of the company in the Canadian Soo, charged in the street cars and demanded that the conductors and motormen join them, and were only prevented from doing further damage by a cleevr ruse of one of the company's officials, who turned in a fire alrm to divert attention. Almost every man in the crowd was armed.

A determined assault was made upon one of the entrances of the building, but the door was defended by those inside, who fired a number of shots, none of which, however, took any effect. The hardware store of W. H. Plummer & Co. was broken into last night and every gun and revolver in stock were stolen, together with all the ammunition that could be found.

The authorities have called out the local company of militia and have telegraphed an urgent to Toronto for both the regulars and more militia. The local militia company is small and totally incapable of coping with the situation.

Orders have been issued to close all the saloons in the Canadian Soo, but up to noon today none of them had been closed. A mob is now marching down on a saloon operated near the company's works whose owner enraged the men by offering to cash their checks for 19 cents on the dollar.

FRANCIS H. CLERGUE AND THE "SOO" ENTERPRISE

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 28.—Recklessness, bad management, incompetency, too much money are charged as having brought about the ruin of the great Consolidated Lake Superior Co., which was capitalized at $117,000,000, and into which eastern investors put $30,000,000 in cash. No other explanation of the crash that occurred is to be found here, where the properties of the company are looked upon as investments that in the future under economical and progressive developments, may earn something. But as regards the past and the present, it is said the plans of another Napoleon of finance have ended in a waterloo of finance. And it is the old story as regards the losses—they fall on the investors.

The central figure in this bubble and burst in Clergue, a Yankee from Bangor, Me. He was the guiding spirit, the promoter and the exploiter, the manager and the executive. He conceived, tried to carry out and failed.

His imagination saw mighty things to be done. His brain could not follow fast enough. He projected, but he could not fulfill. But, all this aside, he had the eloquence, the genius, to get more than $100,000,000 in cash, both here and abroad, to put into his scheme.

The Man and His Methods.

It was Francis H. Clergue whose brain conjured pictures of a commercial center by the falls of Ste. Marie that would rival Pittsburg and Manchester, whose tongue made these visions real to the hard-headed investors of the United States and Canada and whose Aladdin touch was to bring wealth to all who listened and believed. They called him the "Wizard of the North," "the Jason of Algoma," "the King of Ontario," "the Morgan of Canada." The very earth itself seemed stored with riches awaiting the touch of his magic wand to uncover and resolve into gold for those who followed. Nature was his warehouse. The elements were his agents. There were no ends to his enterprises, no limits to his daring, no bounds to his ambition. All Canada thrilled with anticipation. The sanguine predicted a rival to the billion-dollar steel trust that would enter the markets of the world and compete with that great corporation.

Clergue was a young business man in Bangor in the '80's, with a moderate sum of money at his command, but with a mind that reached out into the uttermost confines of the earth and sought for opportunities. He continued in Bangor only because the time was not ripe for him to leave the conservative Maine city and try his hand on the world at large.

Known to Blaine and Hale.

He was known to James G. Blaine, to Senator Eugene B. Hale, to Allen Thorndyke Rice, to Arthur Sewell and to Payson Tucker. They listened and were convinced. They had faith in Clergue; indeed, Clergue has the rare faculty of making men have faith in him. He has the persuasiveness of a French diplomat and the persistence of a diamond drill.

He branched out in 1888. News came to Bangor that Clergue was in Persia, and that he was capitalizing that ancient kingdom right and left. He was credited with organizing the Bank of Persia, the Persian Railway and Construction Co., the

MORE DELAY IN THE TILLMAN CASE

New Postponement Thought Probable When Murder Trial Is Called for Hearing.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LEXINGTON, S. C., Sept. 28.—Politics will enter largely into the trial of "Jim" Tillman, who, while lieutenant-governor, shot and killed Narciso G. Gonzales, editor of the State.

The trial is set for today, but there appears to be a well-founded impression that the defense still has a card which will secure another delay. Counsel for Tillman insist they are ready and anxious to begin the trial immediately, yet it was his lawyers who argued for the clearing of the local county docket before taking up the Tillman case, which comes to Lexington court on a change of venue from Richland County.

Much is expected of Senator Ben Tillman, an uncle of the prisoner, by the lawyers for the defense. He was here last Monday, when his nephew was arraigned, and will be present during the trial. Senator Tillman is the idol of the people of Lexington County, which has no towns of more than a few hundred inhabitants. It was in Lexington, Edgefield and Saluda Counties that the Tillman movement in South Carolina first secured a foothold, and anything that Senator Tillman wants the voters of these counties try to give him.

BOY KILLED BEFORE HIS MOTHER'S EYES

Woman Sends Son to Grocery and Sees Fatal Attempt to Cross Track.

TROLLEY KILLINGS DURING YEAR 1903.

Since January 1	68
During July	10
During August	11
September to date	7

Ten-year-old Johnny Frisby was almost instantly killed in sight of his mother in front of her home, 4800 North Broadway, Monday, shortly before noon.

The little fellow had been sent across the street on an errand for his mother, who stood in the doorway watching him. A Broadway car was going rapidly north, but he thought he had time to pass in front of it.

When he was on the track the fender caught him and, instead of saving him, went over him and held his body down until the wheels caught it.

Mrs. Frisby's heartrending screams brought scores of neighbors to the scene almost before the car could be stopped. She became hysterical and fell in the street. When the body of the boy was taken from beneath the car, it was found that the wheels had terribly crushed the little form. He died in an ambulance on the way to the North End Dispensary.

Mrs. Frisby, who had to be carried into the house by her neighbors, is in a critical condition.

PROPOSAL, LICENSE, MARRIAGE ALL SEEMED TO BRIDE LIKE JOKE

East St. Louis Young Woman Says She Was Wedded Without Knowing It, but After All, Is Glad It Happened.

Miss Flossie Hender of East St. Louis eloped without knowing it and was married without knowledge that the ceremony was real, but she has no regrets.

The bride is 18 years old and before her marriage lived at 654 North Third street. For several years she has known Louis H. Jeffries, traveling salesman for a camera firm, who has visited her whenever his business would allow him to do so.

Friday afternoon he came to East St. Louis, and at once visited Miss Hender. They spent an hour or so together, and Jeffries proposed that the girl mount the front of a railroad engine which was standing near her home and let him take her picture in that position. He said it would make a pretty ad for his firm.

After this bit of fun was over the young man proposed that they take a street car ride to Edwardsville. As he had made this suggestion several times before, she thought nothing of it and consented. On the way to Edwardsville he proposed that they marry. This proposal he had not made before, and it was so sudden that she thought he was joking and gave her assent in the same vein.

Accompanied by Mrs. J. C. Kraime, a friend of Miss Hender's, they visited the marriage license office in Edwardsville and procured a license. Miss Hender says she still thought the whole affair a joke.

Then the trio went to the home of the Rev. Elisha Sassett and the usual ceremony was performed.

When the pastor requested her to sign the name of Mrs. Flossie Htnder Jeffries on the marriage certificate the young lady awoke to a realization that the wedding was not a joke but a fact, and that she was no longer Miss Hender, but Mrs. Jeffries.

Her feelings, she says, were first astonishment, then satisfaction.

Explanations were made to Mrs. Jeffries' parents. Beyond a second surprise and an expression of regret that they had not been let into the secret there was no parental objection.

Mrs. Jeffries congratulates herself on the fact that it was the right man with whom she joked, as she thinks she might have followed a similar course with any other acquaintance.

RISKED LIFE TO SAVE HER HORSE

Mrs. McElrath Rushed Into Burning Shed While Men Stood By.

FIRE PLUGS UNSERVICEABLE

Winter Supply of Coal Consumed in Destruction of Sheds in Olive Street Yard.

Mrs. Sadie McElrath of 3704 Olive street, who was injured in a street car accident several months ago, and has since been obliged to use a cane in walking, entered a burning stable in the rear of her home, rescued a valuable horse from the flames and pulled a double-seated surrey out into the yard.

Mrs. McElrath conducts a boarding house. All her men boarders had gone out for the afternoon when, looking out of one of the rear windows, she saw that the shed in the next yard was nearly consumed by flames, which were rapidly destroying the barn in her yard. She caught up her cane and hurried out into the yard. The upper portion of the barn, which has twd stories, was in flames, and the lower part was filled with dense smoke.

Mrs. McElrath threw open the barn door and rushed into the stifling fumes of the burning hay. The fire had eaten its way through the floor in places and the sparks were falling on and around Jess, her blooded saddle and surrey horse.

She untied the animal, which followed her through the smoke out into the yard.

The fire company arrived, but the firemen had trouble in attaching the hose, and the woman saw that unless she entered the stable again her surrey would be reduced to ashes.

A crowd of men and boys were gathered about, bu none of them offered aid, sos he plunged again into the burning shed, and, unaided, dragged out the heavy surrey.

Before the firemen succeeded in getting water on the flames four companies and a salvage corps arrived. The fireplugs had been left in bad condition by sprinkling car men, it was said, and it was 20 minutes before any resistance to the flames was made.

The two stables were burned to the ground. Mrs. McElrath had her winter's supply of coal in the shed and that was consumed. The total loss is about $300.

The fire is attributed to boys who were playing in the alley.

GRANDJURY IGNORES BOODLE

June Inquisitorial Body Leaves Further Investigation to the October Jury

The June grandjury reassembled Monday morning after a vacation of six weeks. It will present its report to Judge Douglas Saturday morning. It is understood that no boodle matters will be taken up in the interim, but that the October grandjury will renew boodle investigations where the present body stopped.

The October grandjury will be impaneled next week.

Robert E. Lee was a caller on Circuit Attorney Folk Monday morning. He is a brother of ex-Lieutenant-Governor John A. Lee.

SHOOK HANDS; FINGER BROKEN

Country Friends Are Much Overjoyed at Meeting in a Big and Busy City.

Ralph Barsloue will in future hold his hands behind him when he meets an enthusiastic friend from the country. He failed to take this precaution Monday, and as a result had to go to the South Side dispensary with a broken finger.

Ralph, who is 16 years old, came to live in St. Louis only a few days ago. His city home is at 1720 South Broadway. Monday morning he was overjoyed to meet an acquaintance from his home town. The acquaintance was equally delighted. They shook hands.

Ralph screamed and squirmed, and still his friend shook. It seemed to Ralph that he never would quit shaking. But he finally did, and Ralph found that the first joint of his third finger was broken. At the dispensary it was done up in splints and arnica.

CARNEGIE IS TO GIVE CASH

Depreciation in Steel Securities Will Not Affect St. Louis Library Project.

An English speculator who has lost $10,000 in the decline of steel trust securities has written to the London papers suggesting that Andrew Carnegie's first duty to the public it to reimburse his money in the endowment of public libraries.

A London paper makes the statement that Mr. Carnegie makes all his donations for public libraries in steel trust bonds and hints at the possibility of a depreciation in the building funds, whereby the citizens in localities where his gifts have been accepted will have to make up the sum out of their own pockets or be content with second-rate libraries.

Mr. Fred Lehman, president of the Public Library Board of St. Louis, referring to the payments for the building of the St. Louis Carnegie library, said:

"Librarian Crunden has a letter from Mr. Carnegie in which the manner of payment is specified. It is not to be in steel trust bonds but in cash, to be drawn when the time comes, from Mr. Carnegie's treasurer in Hoboken.

"The animus of this article from London is apparent. Stock speculators desire to force Mr. Carnegie to reimburse them for their losses or they will discredit his gifts. Mr. Carnegie did not organize the steel trust. On the other hand he opposed it, and took only its bonds, not its shares. It is not his fault that the library which he has given to St. Louis is not now being built, and the funds drawn therefor. Mr. Carnegie will furnish cash for the building."

BARBER DEFENDS HIS EXTORTIONATE PRICES

Tonsorial Manipulator Who Took $7.50 From a Country Boy Is Given Twenty-Four Hours to Bring Corroborators Into Court.

Burton D. Blackford, an employe in a barber shop at 1705 Market street, will have an opportunity Tuesday morning to produce before Judge Tracy in the First district police court a number of reputable barbers whose fee for hair dyeing is 35.

Blackford, in answering charges of extortion, Monday morning, opened his defense by stating that the $7.50 he had charged a beardless youth of 19 for tonsorial services was in accordance with the prevailing prices in St. Louis. Announcing that he did not believe the statement, despite the fact that Blackford was under oath, and manifested eagerness to protect visitors in the World's Fair city the judge gave the defendant 24 hours to secure support for his statement. Failure to do so will result in a charge of perjury.

The case at point is that of the city against Blackford, who charged R. C. Coffman of Calhoun, Ky., what the latter deemed an unfair amount on Sept. 28, for a few minutes' grooming in a barber's chair. In the absence of young Coffman the city took the case, the lad having been forced to return to his home at once. He had only $6 when he entered the barber shop. This was taken from him in settlement of the check for $7.50.

The police state that Coffman was coaxed into having his hair dyed, eye-brows trimmed and dyed, shaved, shoes shined and hair cut, not knowing what the bill would amount to.

A chum with whom Coffman had come to St. Louis that morning told the police when the complaint was made that he had been made to give up $1.75, all the money he had, for similar services at the hands of the barber. Blackford acknowledged taking the money, but advanced no further with his testimony than has been quoted.

Officer Bambrick, who made the arrest, stated in the courtroom that the young men did not appear familiar with city life and could not defend themselves against extortion. He further stated that within the past ten days a stranger who visiter a barber shop in the vicinity of Union Station was charged $8 for a shave and a few frills. The police were anxious to prosecute the case, but the victim declined, not desiring publicity.

Inquiry at a dozen of the well-known downtown barber shops developed the fact that the usual charge of hair dyeing is from 50 cents to $1. Proprietors express themselves as well paid at that figure, as the work is easy and can be promptly dispatched.

BOULEVARD BILL HELD IN HOUSE

Delegates Heed Complaint Against Throwing Away Present Chestnut Street Paving.

In carrying out the program announced by Speaker pro tem McCarthy of pushing through all public improvement measures with all possible haste, the new House of Delegates combine has halted at the ordinance to resurface or "boulevardize" Chestnut street.

Delegate McAuliffe, chairman of the new public improvements committee, stated to the Post-Dispatch Monday that the committee wished to take its time and investigate the subject thoroughly before reporting the bill.

Mr. McCarthy said a public hearing would very likely be held on the bill.

The bill is one in which Mayor Wells has taken a personal interest. It was his suggestion that the street cars be removed from Chestnut to Pine street, and that Chestnut be made a driveway from Fourth street to Grand avenue, there connecting with West Pine street and making a boulevard to Forest Park straight through.

The cars have stopped running along Chestnut street, and all that remains to be done to make a boulevard is to resurface or remake Chestnut street from Fourth to Twentieth. That portion is now granite and not at all attractive for driving.

Mayor Wells has frequently pointed out that there is now not one street which may be used as a driveway all the way from the heart of the city to Forest Park.

There is always more or less war between the asphalt and rival interests, and fear is entertained for the safety of the present measure.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL A BRIDE

Miss Pearl Wickersham Left Summer Resort Before Parents and Then Wrote All About It

It is a sudden plunge from the High school into matrimony, but it was bravely made by Miss Pearl Wickersham of 771 Bayard avenue and Richard Van Wormer, who has just reached maturity and who lives at 5002 Morgan street, three weeks ago last Saturday.

Miss Wickersham and young Van Wormer had long had a schoolboy and girl love affair. Van Wormer was perfectly acceptable as a suitor for their daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Wickersham, but they were considered too young to marry. Early in the summer the Wickersham family went to Victoria to spend the summer and Miss Pearl went with them. Van Wormer remained in St. Louis, burning up with ardency and hopes deferred.

The pair kept up a steady correspondence, and three weeks ago Van Wormer's epistolary urgings brought Miss Wickersham to St. Louis, ostensibly to visit her grandmother. Instead of doing that, however, she accompanied her young lover to St. Charles and they were married. As soon as this was accomplished young Mrs. Van Wormer wrote to her mother and told all. Of course they were forgiven and now live at the Wickersham home.

During the last term of the High School Mrs. Van Wormer was a brilliant pupil and Mr. Van Wormer was her classmate. He has just matriculated at a law college.

SULTAN'S GARDENER IS HERE

London Man, After Thrilling Experience in Morocco, Comes to Superintend Fair Work.

T. W. Brown of London has arrived in St. Louis to superintend the laying out of the grounds around the British building at the World's Fair.

Mr. Brown hopes to work under more peaceful conditions in St. Louis than he encountered in the last execution of his professional duties.

Last May he and five other Americans escaped from the palace of the Sultan of Morocco after a stay of 16 months, seven of which they were prisoners, being besieged by insurrectionists.

Mr. Brown was employed there in laying out the grounds around the Sultan's palace. The escape to the coast, he says, was finally effected after a ten-days' horseback ride.

Mr. Brown says the British building will be surrounded by a beautiful garden 400 feet square, in which all the flowers and plants will be British.

SECRETARY OF BIG FIRM DISAPPEARS

Friends Believe Illness or Accident Will Account for Absence of Oliver Anderson, Confidential Man for Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney.

RELATIVE WENT TO CHICAGO. BUT FAILED TO FIND HIM

Close Application to Business Believed to Have Caused Failure of Health, Leading to His Departure From Office and Home.

Oliver Anderson, secretary and confidential man for Scruggs, Vandervoort & Barney Dry Goods Co., has been missing from his office and from his home, 4156 Westminster place, since last Thursday.

A diligent search is being made by the family of the missing man, as well as by the firm and mutual friends, and the police have been asked to assist.

One clew led to a visit to Chicago by his brother-in-law. The information was that Anderson was in that city and the brotherinlaw went there to meet him, and to induce him to return.

The manager of the company said Monday that nothing new had been developed through this information. It is not thought that Anderson has so far been located.

Mrs. Anderson refused to see anyone Monday morning, sending word that she was ill.

The only information that could be gained at the Anderson residence was that he was still absent.

Anderson moved to St. Louis only a few months ago. Previous to that time he lived in Webster Groves.

He had been connected with the company for several years.

It is believed by many of his friends that his sudden disappearance the result of illness or accident.

Mr. Andeson has been very closely confined to business for several months, and it is thought that perhaps this has possibly affected him temporarily in such a way as to cause him to wander off.

'SIMMON RIPENING DELAYED

Warm Weather Promised for Next 24 Hours Is Possible—Opening of Indian Summer.

Sunday having passed without the disagreeable day that the local weather forecasters forecasted, pleasant days are promised.

The official warning of the weather bureau is:

"Fair tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight."

This means that Indian summer is at hand, and there will be a week or more to wait before persimmons will not pucker and nuts will part with their shells.

The central plateau "high" has drifted eastward and inhabitants of the Mississippi and Ohio valleys generally are having cool, fair weather. Light frosts are reported from the extreme northern portion of the Ohio valley.

There is rain along the New England coast and along the upper lakes.

The barometer is falling over the Rockies and along the southern slope there is heavy rainfall, 1.48-100 and 1.72-100 being registered at El Paso, Tex., and Phenix, Ariz., respectively.

WATCH TAKEN BY ARMED ROBBER

Man Arrested on Suspicion Identified by Emil Bruner as Highwayman.

Emil Brunner of 504 Market street was robbed by a footpad at 10:30 o'clock Sunday night at Lee and Fair avenues.

The footpad pointed a revolver at Brunner's head and told him that if he made any resistance or called out he would blow his head off. He then relieved his victim of his watch.

The police arrested Fred Cart Monday, and he was identified by Brunner. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Dalton issued a warrant for him.

FRANCIS GIVES SPECIAL CUP

Encourages Americans to Take Part in the Marathon Race at the World's Fair Games.

President Francis has offered a special cup for the Marathon long-distance running race, to be held in connection with the Olympian games at the World's Fair. The distance is 40 kilometers, or about 25 miles.

The object of the special prize, Mr. Francis says, is to encourage Americans to enter the race. Heretofore Yankee athletes have displayed little interest in these long races.

SCOFFERS TURN TO RELIGION IN DEATH'S SHADOW

Three Van Wormer Brothers, Who Will Die in Electric Chair Thursday, Undergo Dramatic Metamorphosis From Mockery to Reverence.

ALL ARE BAPTIZED INTO ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH

Prisoners Have Lost All Hope of Executive Clemency and Prepare for the Most Remarkable Execution in the History of New York.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Warden George Deyo of Clinton prison, at Dannemora, has practically completed all arrangements for putting to death next Thursday at noon the three brothers—Willis, Burton and Frederick Van Wormer, aged respectively 27, 24 and 21 years—convicted of murdering their uncle, Peter A. Hallenbeck, on Christmas eve in 1901.

Never before in the criminal history of New York has the law demanded the lives of three brothers. Precautions have been taken to make the execution as expeditious and as little spectacular as possible.

Public sentiment in Greenport, Columbia County, where the crime was committed, demands the judicial killing of the brothers, but public sentiment throughout the state, as Gov. Odell admits, seems greatly divided as to whether executive clemency should not be exercised.

The murder was an atrocious one. Hallenbeck being called to his door and shot dead in the presence of his wife. There had been for a long time a family feud between the Van Wormers and Hallenbecks.

Warden Deyo is more anxious than ever before in his official life to have the electrocution proceed smoothly. Today and each succeeding day until Thursday the electrical apparatus will be thoroughly tested. Currents will be tried on a cow, as is the usual custom, and the voltage definitely regulated.

The warden will carefully rehearse the preliminaries with his deputies. He will instruct them especially with reference to exactly how the Van Wormers are to be taken into the death chamber, who is to guide each of the condemned men, and just when and how the signal that will launch them into eternity is to be given.

There has been a great deal of speculation as to which of the brothers will be electrocuted first. Stories have been sent abroad that the eldest brother will be put to death first, and others that the youngest brother will go first, as it is feared he could not stand the ordeal of hearing the tramp of his brother's feet to the death chamber.

Who Will Die First Not Known.

The fact is, however, that Warden Deyo's plans are not known, except to himself and his deputies, and they will not divulge them.

The invitation to the execution states that it will take place at noon. Immediately after the killing of the first Van Wormer, his body will be taken to the adjacent autopsy chamber and subjected to surgical examination. This will probably last 10 or 15 minutes.

There can lawfully be three separate juries empanelled; so, if the warden decides on such a course, he can have the executions follow one another at intervals of only two or three minutes.

Down at Kinderhook, Mrs. Van Wormer, the stepmother and aunt of the condemned men, is applying to friends and neighbors for money to make the trip to Dannemora, to take charge of her dead after the law has taken its course. Personally, she has the sympathy of all.

The jurors have all urged Gov. Odell not to commute the sentence, and even the Rev. Dr. Corwin of the Greenport church demands that the old Mosaic law of an eye for an eye be fulfilled.

Gov. Odell intended to save the younger brother, but, within two hours, changed his mind.

The Van Wormer boys all had sweethearts and girl friends. To several of these the younger one has written brave but pathetic letters recently.

"The sooner it is over with the better," is the sentiment running through the letters.

Hopeless of receiving any further clemency from Gov. Odell, the brothers embraced the Catholic faith and were baptized by Father Belanger of St. Joseph's Parish, in Dannemora, yesterday.

Dramatic Circumstances of Their Conversion.

Never was there a stranger or more dramatic scene in real or play life than attended this conversion of the three murderers.

Shortly before noon the priest, who is the prison chaplain, received word that the boys wished to see him.

Wholly unprepared for their startling metamorphosis from mockery to reverence, the chaplain visited the death house and heard from Willis, the eldest brother and spokesman for the trio, that they wished to confess and be baptized before dying.

They were informed that the ceremony would be a conditional one, but insisted with the performance.

Father Belanger returned an hour later [illegible] canonicals, and in the presence of [illegible]vo and three keepers, who acted [illegible], received the confession and ba[illegible] first.

At [illegible] attempting to master his emotion[illegible] Van Wormer collapsed completely[illegible] the ceremony and caused a [illegible] delay.

Passing from [illegible] to that of Frederick, and on [illegible] Van Wormer, ten feet further into [illegible]ow of the electric chair, wended [illegible] procession.

Warden Deyo decla[illegible]self convinced of the deep sincerity [illegible]n by the condemned boys, and his [illegible]ction was borne out by the sudden and complete change in the prisoners.

They no longer laughed and berated their keepers in trivial matters, but retired each into the far corner of his cell and began to read.

Father Belanger believes they will go to the chair without flinching, and has abandoned his fear that Willis and Frederick would have to be carried to the death chamber. They will each bear a crucifix in the twenty-foot march, their last on earth, to the chair.

By their own request, the Van Wormer brothers will receive their first and final communion the morning of the electrocution.

Study in State Politics.

The St. Louis Republican Club will hold it regular meeting Tuesday evening, Sept. [illegible] at the club house, 3527 Olive street. The address of the evening will be delivered by Hon. William M. Kinney.

BABY BOY DESERTED AT UNION STATION SMILES AT MISFORTUNE

Photographed by the Post-Dispatch

BABY BLUE EYES.

BABY'S QUERIES.

I wonder why my mamma
Has gone and left me so,
And turned me over to the care
Of folks I do not know.
I wonder where she wandered,
And where she now can be.
Oh, will she nevermore return?
Has she no love for me?

I'm such a little body,
I have no strength to fight
This great wide world around me here,
That gives me such a fright.
Where is my mamma straying?
Oh, say, where can she be?
Can it be possible I cry,
She has no love for me?

A blue-eyed baby boy, two months old, looks wide-eyed at the ceiling of the Bethesda Home Nursery, and, when he thinks of it at all, wonders why his mother left him in the arms of a pretty girl at Union Station and never came back to claim him. He is quite sure that he is a good baby—at least, as good as any self-respecting baby ought to be, and that his toes are as pink and his wrists as chubby and his back as round and soft as mother's lips ever decorated with a kiss. After a little while of wondering he sighs and sleeps again, and the angels come to him in his dreams and wrinkle his little face into happy smiles.

The blue-eyed baby boy was left with Miss Eliza Hawkins, a visitor from Illinois, as sat awaiting her train in Union Station. The mother of the child asked the young woman to hold the baby while she went to the baggage room to check her trunk. She did not return, and after Miss Hawkins had missed her train and wondered vainly she gave the child to Miss Nora Eldridge, who turned it over to the Bethesda Home.

SPLIT PREDICTED IN BRIDGEWORKERS

Tension High Between the Contending Factions at Kansas City Convention.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 28.—The dove of peace that settled over the delegates to the annual convention of the Structural Iron & Bridge Workers' Association for a brief period on Saturday had been rudely disturbed over Sunday, and this morning the tension between the Buchanan and Parks contingents was close to the breaking point. Before the convention met today a split seemed inevitable.

President Buchanan called the convention to order as if nothing unusual had happened; no Saturday's session. Before proceeding to business he addressed a few words to the delegates urging harmony and saying that he had only the best interests of union labor at heart and wanted to do what would accomplish the most for labor in general. He urged the necessity especially for the effect it would have upon the country at large, of a dignified, businesslike convention. There was no attempt on the part of the Parks crowd to interfere with the routine work in hand and any antagonistic action they may have had in mind was postponed for the time being. Perhaps the most important action of the morning session was the granting of a charter to the Architectural Iron-workers' Union of Chicago, with a membership of about 250.

Mr. Hill, president of the Chicago local, was given a seat in the convention, but without vote. This class of labor has between 5000 and 6000 members throughout the country, most of whom are already affiliated with the International structural and bridge workers. Grievances presented by Detroit, Kansas City and other locals were referred without action.

The following petition was presented to the convention: "We, the delegates representing locals 19 of Minneapolis, 24 of Denver, 27 of Salt Lake City, 30 of Kansas City, 20 of Des Moines and 21 of Omaha, request that some action be taken to secure control of the road work being done by the several roads west of the Mississippi river. There are a number of fair contractors who have agreed to recognize our union and pay the standard wages with regulation hours. We find that such roads as the Union Pacific, Oregon Short Line and others are paying their bridge men as low as $3 per day for a 10-hour day. We recommend that some action be taken by this convention that would either force these railroads to pay the standard wages or let their bridge work to contractors who are fair to organized labor."

As far as could be learned no action was taken on this petition.

POLICEMAN FALLS IN A FAINT.

Officer Scully Suffers Serious Relapse While Making an Arrest.

While Patrolman Lawrence P. Scully of the Fifth District was in the act of arresting a man, who had been creating a disturbance in the saloon of C. Schutz, 2000 Salisbury street, at 10 o'clock Sunday night, he suddenly fell in a faint upon the floor. Officer F. H. Bokamper, who was with him, summoned an ambulance and he was taken to the North Side Dispensary, where he was revived before being taken to his home, 3525 North Jefferson avenue.

Officer Scully, who is a son-in-law of Julius Lehman, former member of the House of Delegates, had been ill and under the treatment of a physician for a week for malaria and chronic bronchitis. Saturday morning he returned to work against him physician's advice.

Sunday night he was called from his beat to suppress an obstreperous saloon patron. He had just laid his hand upon the arm of the quarrelsome man when he turned white and fell to the floor.

Dr. H. W. Bartscher diagnosed his case as failure of the heart, due to his long-continued illness, and going to work when he was in no condition to do so. Monday Officer Scully was in bed under the doctor's care.

Teheran waterworks, each with $1,000,000 capital. Then the story came that Clergue had gone to Russia to see the Czar and complete his arrangements for taking over about all the concessions that were to be conceded in Persia and bringing the appurtenances of civilization within the reach of the minions of the Shah. Mr. Blaine stood sturdily behind Clergue. So did the other Maine men.

Then came stories of great colonizing schemes and they were believed. Everybody in Maine pictured Clergue as hobnobbing with the Czar and sitting for days in the company of the resplendent Shah. Clergue did not deny. He was in Persia and he had schemes. His principal object was to form a company to take over a railroad project from an English syndicate and complete it.

The English syndicate had a concession and, after beginning work, suddenly stopped. It was discovered that the Czar was opposed to English operations in Persia, but that he had no objection to Americans. The English syndicate wanted to get something out of the wreck, and asked help Persian minister to interest somebody in the United States if he could. Clergue came along and the Persian minister interested him. Clergue had been looking for such a chance. He formed an American company to take over the railway, and his other operations were but the offshoots of that enterprise.

A New World to Conquer.

This established Clergue. He was no longer the business man of Bangor, merely, but the world-wide promoter. He started other schemes, and in 1895 set out to see what he could find on this continent worthy of his talents.

He roamed about, looking for possibilities with eager eyes, until he came to Sault Ste. Marie. He wanted power. Here was enough of roaring, rushing water to turn the mills of all the gods. He took over a 5000 horse-power canal that was on the Canadian side and deepened and widened it. He built a power house with the rock he blasted out and then began to reach for manufacturers to use his power.

Under he plans all this region was to be made the greatest mining, wood pulp making and manufacturing district in the world. At the Soo a great water plant was constructed to develop 40,000 horse-power with one of the most expensive equipments in the world, the work costing $3,500,000. Into the development of the company's property the investors poured millions.

Then came the crash. The directors were forced to admit that they could not pay a loan of $5,000,000, three months overdue, and Speyer & Co., the New York bankers who held as collateral securities of the company's subsidiary to the Consolidated Lake Superior Co., announced that the collateral would be sold at auction Oct. 1. Meanwhile a receiver for the company had been appointed in B. F. Frankenthal, Jr., president of the Thomas Iron Co. of Easton, Pa. On behalf of the receiver Attorney Bicknell of Toronto has arrived here and is now in charge of the company's local affairs.

Clergue Still Has Hope.

Mr. Clergue is still full of promises for the future, and talks much of English capital that is to develop his enterprise to its fullest possibilities as soon as the present trouble, which he ascribes to the "unexpected continuance of money pressure in New York" is over. He asserts that only a fraction of the capital invested has been earning money, and now the whole plant is ready to be revenue producing. There is a big faction here that still believes in Clergue.

Recruiting Record Broken.

After receiving more than 300 recruits for the navy, Lieut. Richardson and his corps of recruiting officers have closed the St. Louis station and gone to Little Rock, where they opened a recruiting office Monday morning. Lieut. Richardson's record has not been equaled in St. Louis since the Spanish-American war. There were more than 500 applications.

Fist Breaks False Teeth.

William Kane and Michael Lawler fought viciously in a saloon at 5444 Manchester avenue, and now Kane threatens to prosecute Lawler on the charge of breaking his artificial teeth. Kane was proud of his teeth, and he feels very much aggrieved that Lawler knocked five of them out of their setting. His grievance is aggravated by the fact that his head was gashed and his eyes closed.

WOUNDED WOMAN'S WORD DISCREDITED

Peculiar Wound, Which Wife Says She Inflicted, Causes Husband's Arrest

THEY QUARRELED ALL NIGHT

She Is Shot in Hip and Will Be an Invalid if Physicians Succeed in Saving Life.

A warrant was issued Monday morning charging Joseph Lewis with assault to kill his wife, Katheryn Lewis.

The purpose of the warrant is to hold Lewis until the police can obtain evidence against him or otherwise solve the case.

Mrs. Lewis, who is in the Centenary Hospital, stoutly maintains that she shot herself.

After a bitter quarrel with her husband, lasting all night, Mrs. Lewis was shot Sunday morning in their room at 3002 Lawton avenue, and bleeding profusely ran down stairs crying for help. She was met by Mrs. Winfield Potts and Miss Nellie Taylor, who took the terrified woman in charge. Miss Taylor carried her upstairs to the blood-stained bed from which she had fled, while her husband went for a physician.

She was resting quietly Monday morning and Dr. H. W. Knapp, who is attending her, states that she will recover.

Lewis says his wife shot herself accidentally while pretending that she intended to shoot him.

Mrs. Lewis maintains that it was an accident, and that she did not know the gun was loaded.

Both she and her husband, who is held by the police, are reticent concerning their previous history.

They first appeared at 3002 Lawton avenue and applied for a room Wednesday morning. Lewis stated that he was a Pullman conductor. He had a cap marked "News Agent," which was found in the room, after the shooting, by the police.

Loud talking in the room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Lewis aroused the attention of Henry C. Dye in the next room adjoining theirs.

Husband's Guest Causes Quarrel

Mr. Dye says there were three persons in the Lewis room, two of whom were men. The presence of the second man, Lewis' guest, was the cause of the quarrel.

He heard Mrs. Lewis ask this man repeatedly to go away, and talk by all three followed.

Later in the night, he says, he heard a man, whose voice he took for that of Lewis, exclaim: "I ought to shoot your head off for this; and I'll do it, too."

Sunday morning he says he was awakened by abusive language and heard Lewis go out and down the stairs. In a few minutes he came back, and soon afterward a shot was fired.

Examination of the Lewises' effects showed that jewelry had been procured by them in Chicago. The name of J. S. Townsend, 1554 Wabash aevnue, appeared upon a watchcase. A receipted bill for $85 worth of diamond was found.

Lewis was short of money when arrested. A pawn ticket was found in his pocket and he said he had pawned a watch for $30 to pay his wife's hospital expenses.

The name of Joe Hearst appeared upon a bill found in the room. Upon articles belonging to Mrs. Lewis the initials "K. E. B." were seen. Dr. T. B. Mansfield, house surgeon at the Centenary Hospital, stated that Mrs. Lewis denied herself to all visitors and declined to say a word about her affairs.

SUICIDE ATTEMPT NO OFFENSE

Police Refuse to Arrest Friendless and Homeless Man Who Threw Himself in Front of Car.

The St. Louis police have decided in favor of a man's right to try to kill himself by refusing to arrest Wild Scott, 65 years old, without health, friends or money, who attempted suicide by throwing himself in front of a street car.

Scott deliberately fell across the transit company's track at Eighteenth and Pine streets when a Compton Heights car was not more than ten feet away. The motorman, P. O. Fallon, brought the car to a stop less than a foot from the man's body.

Scott admitted at the city dispensary that he wanted to kill himself. He said he had been in St. Louis but three days and in that time had lost his summer's savings, $60. He was bruised by his fall on the paving stones.

CARDINAL OF THE CURIA.

Probable Representative of the Vatican to St. Louis World's Fair.

ROME, Sept. 28.—The negotiations for the participation of the Vatican in the St. Louis exposition are proceeding satisfactorily. It is considered preferable that the holy see shall send as its representative an important cardinal of the curia. The chief difficulty is that the traditions and etiquette of the Vatican are against sending cardinals, except ablegates, to foreign countries, and they are never sent to exhibitions or fairs. The difficulty will probably be overcome by sending a cardinal to America in connection with church affairs and he will afterwards proceed to St. Louis, thus paying to the United States the papacy's highest tribute.

Rainwater Rifles on Parade.

An exhibition drill will be given Monday evening by Company E, First regiment, N. G. M., the Rainwater Rifles, at the armory, Fourteenth and Olive streets. It will be a "stag" affair, and there will be a glove contest between two well-known boxers. An equipment of Krag-Jorgensen rifles has been received from the United States government, and the drill is to celebrate the event.

BRIDGE PASSENGERS TAKE TO WALKING

Trio of Accidents on Electric Line Cause Fear of Catastrophe.

Three recent accidents on the electric railway crossing Eads bridge, each of them coming dangerously close to precipitating a passenger-filled car from the bridge, have caused much concern among those who have to use the cars.

Patrons of the bridge line are commenting upon the condition of the track, which they say is dangerous. The rails are loose in many places, and many of the spikes which should be employed in holding them in place are apparently missing.

The third of the series of accidents occurred when the rear trucks of car No. 64, in charge of Motorman James Scanlan and Conductor O'Brien, left the westbound track just beyond the western pier and ran upon the sidewalk and within 3 feet of the edge of the bridge.

The floor of the bridge is fully 70 feet above the edge of the stone-paved St. Louis levee.

Saturday a car going rapidly east was brought to a sudden stop within five feet of the space left by a displaced rail on the eastern incline, which is fully 50 feet above the ground.

A short time ago another car left the track near the edge of the bridge, coming almost as close to going over as did the one which was derailed Sunday.

In each case serious results were averted only by the quickness and strength of the motorman in bringing his car to a stop.

Wheels Bounce Off the Track.

The accident of Sunday was caused, according to the motorman, simply by the wheels bounding off the track. There was no obstruction, and passengers believe that the insecure condition of the rail was alone responsible for the accident.

The displacement of the rail on the east incline Saturday was due, according to the car crew, merely to the rapid passage of a car preceding the one that was endangered. It is said that the weight of the car caused the rail to "jump," leave its position and shift forward inside the track a distance of 10 feet, leaving a gap of that distance between the ends of the two rails.

The rails used on the bridge line are of light weight, of the old groove pattern, and have been in use for many years. When originally laid they were intended to be used by the small cars which have long since been displaced by double-track vehicles of much greater weight and higher speed.

Passengers on rapidly-moving bridge cars state that they have frequently seen and heard poorly-fastened rails "jump" as the cars went over them. They allege that in many instances the rails seem to be held in place by their own weight, the spikes that originally held them having disappeared.

Well-Known Woman Dies.

The funeral of Mrs. Catharine Kammerer will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence of her son-in-law, Judge Leo Rassieur, of 2335 Whitmore place, where she died Sunday. Mrs. Kammeier had been a resident of St. Louis for 40 years and came to the United States from Germany when a child. She was 84 years old. She leaves five children, Mrs. Rassieur, Mrs. Max Krug, Mrs. Amelia Saussenthaler and L. G. Kammerer of St. Louis, and August Kammerer of Beardstown, Ill.

Narcotic Killed Judge's Son.

DE SOTO, Mo., Sept. 28.—Willis Allen, aged 28 years, son of the late Supreme Court Judge Allen of Illinois, was found dead at Hecklite, a town seven miles north of here. The verdict of the coroner's jury was that he came to his death from an overdose of some kind of narcotic, administered either by himself or somebody else.

BURGLAR BEATS AN AGED WOMAN

Wife of Federal Official at Belleville Knocked Down by Unseen Marauder.

Mrs. William H. Powell, aged 75, wife of the collector of internal revenue for the Thirteenth district of Illinois, was struck three times and knocked down by a burglar in her home at 400 South High street, Belleville, early Monday morning.

The burglar, whose attempt at robbery was unsuccessful, escaped from a window before two neighbors, aroused by Mrs. Powell's cries for help, could surround the house. There is no clew as to his identity, as Mrs. Powell did not see him.

Mrs. Powell was awakened shortly before 2 o'clock by a noise in her room. She arose and went into the bathroom, where she lighted a gas jet and then, with the lighted match still in her hand, returned to her bedroom.

Watching the blaze of the match closely and sheltering it behind the palm of her hand, she approached the bed, above which was a gas jet.

As she reached up to turn on the gas a man sprang from behind the footboard of the bed and struck her twice in the back of the head. As she turned he struck her again in the side, and she fell.

The intruder ran, and Mrs. Powell, as soon as she could regain her feet, went to a window, where she began to call for help.

Henry Schrader and another neighbor started to her assistance, and, on her statement that the man was still in the house, Schrader with revolver in hand took a position where he could watch all means of exit while his companion ran for a policeman.

On the arrival of the policeman a thorough search of the house was made, but the man was not found. It is supposed that he escaped before Schrader reached the house.

Mr. Powell, who is 78 years old and in very feeble health, was in the house at the time, but did not hear the burglar and was not aroused until his wife began to scream.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 28.—John W. Shevlin of St. Louis, recently made chief of detectives here, has arrived and will perfect the organization of his force next Thursday. He will have five men under him and will at once inaugurate the Bertillon measurement system and rogues' gallery.

INCENDIARIES FLEE FROM EXPOSITION

Pile of Oil-Soaked Material Found in Agricultural Building by Guard.

TWO WATCH VAST EDIFICE

Small Force of Well-Trained Firemen Protects Property Valued at $10,000,000.

The Agricultural building at the World's Fair was the object of an incendiary attempt Sunday night. William Worth, a Jefferson guard, and William Maloney, a policeman, chased two men away from the building at 8:30 o'clock, after firing several revolver shots at them, and then discovered an oil saturated pile of straw and kindling in a shed close to the northeast corner of the building.

Worth was walking near the building when he saw two men run away from a small shed close to the northeast corner. He called to them to halt and when they would not he fired several shots after them. Policeman Maloney was not far away, and ran to the assistance of Worth. Together they searched the shed, and found a bale of straw, covered with a pile of kindling. The mass was soaked with oil. Evidently it had been laid ready for firing when Worth's appearance frightened the incendiaries away.

The situation of the building is more exposed than any other on the Exposition grounds. It is on a hill to the south and east of the Administration building, and is outside the fence that surrounds the main grounds. No admission is charged to enter this part of the grounds, and it may be approached by anyone at night.

The building, the largest of the Exposition edifices, being 600 feet wide and 1800 feet long, was guarded by only two men.

To prevent possible incendiarism the number of Jefferson guards has been greatly increased inside the grounds. Everyone found inside the fence at night is stopped and closely questioned.

A man who had business in the grounds one night last week reported that he had been stopped twenty times. The Agricultural palace has not, however, been so closely guarded.

The Agricultural Building, the authorities think, was chosen by the incendiaries for their operations because of its exposed position and the difficulty of reaching it with fire apparatus. The ground surrounding it is very rough and hilly. The nearest fire station is to the south.

With property of the value of $10,000,000 to guard, the fire fighting force at the Exposition grounds consists of five companies with a total of 55 men, 20 of whom are the famous Kansas City fire fighters under former Chief Hale of that city. The apparatus consists of four steamers with their complement of hose reels. Each building has a fire equipment of 20 Babcock extinguishers, and two 40-gallon chemical extinguishers on carts, together with 600 feet of hose attached to plugs. All the Jefferson guards are drilled twice a week in quick work in fighting fire.

HUSBAND FAILS TO MEET HER

Landlady Believes That Man Who Disappeared Before Wife's Arrival Has Nervous Prostration

Mrs. Fred Crafton has returned from Seattle, Wash., to find that her husband has been mysteriously missing for a week.

When he failed to meet her at Union Station, as she requested by telegraph, Mrs. Crafton went to his room at 3313 Laclede avenue and learned from the landlady, Mrs. Margaret Leland, that he had been afflicted with forgetfulness for several weeks and had disappeared Sept. 20 without leaving word as to his intentions.

His clothing and effects lay scattered about his room as if he intended to return, but no word of him has reached Mrs. Leland since his departure.

Will Stand by the Mediums.

The newest topic among St. Louis Spiritualists is the decision of Judge Pollard in the case of Mrs. Rosenbaum. On invitation, the legal points of the case were explained to the Progressive Union Sunday afternoon by Attorney Louis D. Goodman. He contradicted a report that Judge Pollard had said that mediums were the agents of God. The judge had simply said that such was the belief of Spiritualists. The national, state and local Spiritualist associations have determined to stand by all honest mediums who work with the churches and societies, asserting on all occasions their constitutional rights.

"RAMIE" UNDERCLOTHING

Made from the fibre of a plant and called Ramie; the properties of this fibre make it suitable to form a thread firm and elastic. It is the most beautiful and durable of all fibre known to textile art.

It is proven that the strength of Ramie thread is five times as strong as wool and five and half times as strong as cotton.

It does not shrink, that it possesses the property of storing warmth, that it secures complete ventilation at the surface of the body, that it makes the skin healthy and elastic.

FEATURE RACE TO BE A CLOSE ONE

Little Scout's Chances Are Good, but Albula, Beaucaire and Taby Tosa Are Dangerous.

JOCKEY WILL DECIDE IT

Third and Fifth Races Should Also Prove Good Contests—Four More Days at the Delmar Track.

BY R. D. WALSH.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DELMAR RACETRACK, Sept. 28.—In four days hence the fall meeting at Delmar will come to a close, after which the sport will be transferred to the Fair Grounds for 30 days more. Nov. 1 will witness the end of the racing season in St. Louis for 1903.

The feature event of today's program will be the fourth race, a $600 purse at a mile and a sixteenth for 3-year-olds and upward. This is one of the best races carded at Delmar this season. The seven horses entered have all been returned winners this season, some of them several times.

With the game Taby Tosa, the speedy Albula, the tenacious Monsieur Beaucaire and the brilliant Little Scout in one race the result is bound to be highly exciting and spectacular. The mare Ray, who is engaged to run in this race, is a recent arrival from the Canadian circuit.

She is an animal of more than ordinary capacity and not long ago won a mile and a sixteenth at Fort Erie in 1:48, having made the first mile in 1:40¼. She is pitted against much better horses today, however, than she met at Fort Erie, and her chances of winning are rather slim.

Albula, Monsieur Beaucaire and Taby Tosa meet with proportionately the same weights they had up Friday, when Beaucaire won. The track was faster then than it will be today. The distance of today's race will suit Albula much better than that of Friday. In that contest he led for a mile and a sixteenth, which is the distance of today's race.

Bessie McCarthy got such a decisive beating Saturday that she cannot be selected to win here today. Flintlock defeated her about five lengths at a mile, and both Taby Tosa and Little Scout can easily vanquish him. Dan McKenna is a fair sort of a horse, but he seems to be completely outclassed in this company.

Beaucaire would have a much better chance at a longer distance.

Little Scout Seems the Best.

All things considered I favor the chances of Little Scout, provided he is ridden by Jockey Sheehan. On a fast track he will find it hard to beat Taby Tosa, but the course today will be slow, and this will suit the Bennett colt to a nicety.

The fifth race has a nice field of four engaged in it. This race seems to have resolved itself into a duel between Montana Peeress and Light Opera. The distance suits the Lemp horse better than it does Peeress, but the latter has more early speed, and if she can retain it for the entire journey she will probably win. She will be favorite, and this will not favor her.

Her owners like to get a good price against their horses, and if the odds against her are 6 or 7 to 5 it would be more advisable to speculate on Light Opera at 2 or 2½ to 1. On their last race Silurian should have no trouble defeating Bummer for show money. Silurian's race Friday showed that he is improving, and it is possible that he may cause a big surprise here.

The third race has an excellent field of 3-year-olds engaged in it, and there is no doubt that Foreland is the best horse in the race. He is giving away a lot of weight but he outclasses his company so much that he can easily afford to do so. It is a close thing between Follies Bergeres and Wreath of Ivy for second place, but at the weights I prefer the former.

The opening race is for 2-year-olds at five furlongs. There is little to choose between the lot engaged in this race, but Judge Denton is probably a trifle the best. On his race Saturday he cannot be figured to win, but on his effort of Sept. 22 he should lead all the way and come home by himself. Foxy Grandpa and Launay seem to be the best of the others and I like them in that order.

Military is a very dangerous horse in the second race. He has a record of 1:13⅘ for six furlongs on the Canadian circuit, but as this will be his first start here and he is fairly well weighted it will probably be a prudent thing to give him a chance to show his caliber before supporting him. If Harry Griffith runs as well as he did his last out he should be in the money to a certainty.

The sixth race has a big field of 14 engaged in it, but more than half of them have no chance whatever to win. It is a mystery why such horses as Verona and Castake are asked to compete here. The Bobby is an honest performer and will about win this event. He has no Last Knight to beat here, and Good and Tony Lepping seem to be his most dangerous opponents. Merris Volmar's last race was a bad one and he has little chance to defeat The Bobby. Kunja should do better than she has been doing, but she was always an unreliable jade.

Mondays are usually off days on the local tracks, but today's card is an unusually strong one and will doubtless attract a large attendance. The track will be slower than it was Saturday, but it will not be heavy by any means.

With the close of the season at League Park, and the announcement that Donovan will continue at the head of the club during its 1904 career, Mr. Fan gets out his sheet of statistics and begins to figure how the Cardinals can get out of last place next year.

Mr. Frank De Haas Robison says that he intends to devote time and money to the strengthening of the Cardinals and in this connection it is interesting to learn from Manager Donovan that the only purchases needed will be of four players.

"We have the groundwork of a good team here," said Donovan Sunday. "In spite of our showing I know that most of the men on my staff are capable of high class work. We need four new men—a first baseman, two new pitchers and one other man, for what position I don't care to state. With everything working smoothly, I know we can have a first division team with the bunch we have signed. Unless I am incapacitated or let go, I will be with the club next year."

Four men to make a first division team of the Cardinals!

Mr. Fan sinks behind his newspaper and laughs at the words.

"A whole minor league couldn't make winners of that team," he says, giving Patsy the bleacher ha, ha.

And yet even fans can be mistaken. Disorganization had much to do with the bad finish of the local National League team. Two discontented players infected the whole club, and the nine which was playing good ball early in the season finished like a band of whipped curs.

With Barclay playing at his 1902 form, the entire outfield would have braced up, and with Brain playing as he is capable of doing, the same might be said of the infield.

Possibly Donovan can evolve harmony out of chaos next year. If he does, with four new players, he may do what he hopes.

Yesterday's games at League Park showed a distinct brace for the Cardinals. They played snappy hustling games and showed that the ability is there, when the inclination to play accompanies it.

In the post-season series which opens at Sportsman's Park next Saturday, the nine will probably work at its best and surprise the mockers. Also the Browns.

WHITE SEAL HINES WILL MAKE GOOD

Local Pitcher Loses His First Big League Game Through Nervousness.

P. J. (and other initials) Hines, who has been throwing puzzlers to the opponents of the White Seals baseball team all summer with excellent effect, is probably a fixture on the staff of the Cardinals, a result of the showing he made in yesterday's first game at League Park against Philadelphia.

Hines displayed some nervousness at his first big league appearance, and that before a home crowd of 500 persons—many of them friends. He was wild but gave glimpses of enough to indicate that he is worth a further try-out. He passed six men to first and was hit ten times for safeties. He also lost out, score 6 to 5.

He had nice speed and sharp breaks, however, and with a little steadying down may become a valuable man. Hines was up against Chick Fraser, one of the best, and the Cardinals did not do any wonders with the Philadelphian's slants.

In the second game Miner Brown was too, too much for the visitors. Brown was in his best form. He was hit for only eight safeties, gave two bases on balls and struck out nine men, once retiring the side on strikes. The final score was 5 to 3 and the fans were pleased.

LOU DILLON NOT TO BE RACED

Mr. Billings Refuses to Start Her This Year in Any Contests.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 28.—The proposed trotting race between Major Delmar and Lou Dillon, for which a $2,000 purse was offered and which was being strongly urged upon the owners of the horses, was declined by C. K. G. Billings after a request for a statement from him had been made.

"Lou Dillon will not enter any contest," said Mr. Billings. "I made that announcement long before she made her world's record, and I will adhere to it. Lou Dillon is only 5 years old and has never been trained to racing."

Lou Dillon will be shipped to Lexington Wednesday and from there to Memphis. Her starts at the Tennessee tracks against time will probably be her last of the season.

"I'LL TRY FOR THE CUP TILL I GET IT"—LIPTON

Sir Thomas, Who Is Well Again, Says He Would Challenge Tomorrow if He Could Find a Designer Who Could Beat Herreshoff.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—"If I could find a designer who, I was certain, could beat Herreshoff I would build Shamrock IV and challenge for the cup tomorrow.

"I am retaining Shamrock III so you can see that I am in hopes of finding such a designer.

"I will try for the cup till I get it."

These were the statements made by Sir Thomas Lipton at his apartments at the Auditorium Annex today.

It is the first interview he has given since coming to Chicago two weeks ago.

"I want to report," he said, "that I have no fault to find with any one for my defeat.

"I have seen a suggestion that the only way to revive British interest in cup racing would be to dangle the cup in front of our eyes by waiving the rules and let the challenged American yacht race in British waters.

"I want to say that, while I personally appreciate the kindliness of the suggestion, we want to win the cup and win it fairly, according to the present rules, and I don't see that, if we did win it, it would not stay on our side more than a year."

Sir Thomas was able to receive visitors today. He showed no effects of the recent illness. His cheeks were red, his step firm and his bearing vigorous.

It is probable that Sir Thomas will leave Chicago about the middle of this week. President Underwood of the Erie Railroad has placed his private car at the disposal of the yachtsman for the trip to New York.

M'GRAW HAS FAITH IN AMES

Refuses a $15,000 Offer From the Pirates for His Phenomenal Young Pitcher.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 28.—That Manager McGraw of the Giants considers his new pitcher, Eon Ames, a world beater, is evidenced by his refusal of one of the biggest offers ever made for the release of a player.

After the game which young Ames put up against the Pirates and beat them, last week, President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgs went to McGraw to secure that player's release.

Dreyfuss opened with an offer of $10,000 and when McGraw refused to consider the proposition raised it to $15,000. McGraw also refused this.

"If he is worth that to Pittsburg, he is certainly worth that to the club which expects to beat the Pirates out of the pennant next year. That club is mine. Ames will pitch for us. Ames may help us win the flag and would, in that case, be worth much more than $15,000."

Ames is the pitcher who opened his big League career against the St. Louis Cardinals by shutting that team out without either a hit or a run.

REGAN EN ROUTE TO 'FRISCO

Clever Little Fighter Believes He Will Show New Points to Mr. Frankie Neil.

Johnny Regan, who was defeated here some weeks ago for the legitimate featherweight championship, leaves St. Louis tonight for San Francisco, where he will endeavor to retrieve his pugilistic fame by winning the bantamweight championship laurels from Frankie Neil.

Regan's contest takes place Oct. 16. Eddie Cain, who once trained Terry McGovern, has Regan in tow and will do a little fighting himself while on the coast. Regan arrived last night from the East and stopped here only long enough to have a conference with his manager, Mal Boyle.

Regan thinks he can whip Neil and no one would be surprised to see him turn the trick.

The articles of agreement call for 20 rounds at 118 pounds. Regan now weighs about 122 pounds, but anticipates no trouble in making the weight.

FIGHT CHAT.

Jack Keefe of East St. Louis will get into the fighting game again Oct. 5, his first appearance since Young Corbett handed him a sleep-producer at the West End Club. Keefe will take on Billy Huber, a local lightweight, who has been steadily climbing the ladder and is now considered a good preliminary fighter.

Huber bested "Young Kid McCoy" in the preliminary to the Attell-Regan fight, and is the first man who has been able to do anything to that eccentric individual in the ring. The affair will take place in the McCasland Opera House, East St. Louis. Tommy Ryan will probably referee the bout.

Boxing Instructor Tommy Ryan of the Missouri Athletic Club is becoming restless. His contract with the organization calls for a nominal salary and a percentage of the commissions from pupils. Tommy has found pupils scarce and wants to get busy. The club hardly expects the boxers to start work before the cold weather is here to stay. Ryan is getting himself into fighting condition in the hope of getting Philadelphia Jack O'Brien into the ring.

San Francisco refuses to see Benny Yanger in the light of a winner over Eddie Hanlon. Yanger money has been in evidence at Frisco, but notwithstanding the play, reports state that the odds are still in favor of Hanlon. That Yanger has a chance to win, and a good chance, is certain. John Hertz, Yanger's manager, seldom takes chances with his star, and the match would not have been re-made if Yanger were anything but an even-money choice or better.

It is reported from the East that a long coffin, suitable for the interring of Con Coghlan's pugilistic reputation, is being constructed. The interment will be public and will take place at Philadelphia Wednesday night.

Brooklyn Thomas Sullivan will assist in one of the three more important fights which take place this week. Sullivan meets Kid Hermann at Kansas City Oct. 2. Hermann is no world-beater, but is considered clever in Chicago.

The fight "trust" is again being promoted in San Francisco. Eddie Graney, the well-known referee, is reported at the head of a scheme to control the game there. An organization known as the North End Athletic Club has applied for three special permits for boxing matches, with the object of freezing the other clubs out. Only one permit is issued monthly, and the granting of the special permits will take up the remainder of the year, shutting out existing dates.

SUDHOFF PITCHES IN BOSTON GAME

Browns Will Arrive Saturday After Playing Two Games in Cincinnati.

BOSTON, Sept. 28.—The Browns and the Bostons will play the semi-windup games of the American League series here this afternoon.

Willie Sudhoff will probably pitch for the visitors.

The Browns leave here Tuesday night and will arrive in St. Louis Saturday morning. The team will stop over at Cincinnati for two games.

FITZ AND GARDNER TO FIGHT

Lanky Bob Agrees to Weigh in at 168, but Wise Ones Doubt It.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—The announcement of the match made yesterday for Bob Fitzsimmons and George Gardner, according to the terms of which they will meet at San Francisco late in November, has aroused much comment here among those who have seen Fitzsimmons at work.

The articles agreed upon yesterday stipulate that Fitz and Gardner weigh in at 168 pounds at 3 p. m. the day of the fight. Those who have seen Fitzsimmons say that to reach 168 he will have to take off 30 pounds from the figures he scaled just prior to going into training for his Coffman bout of Wednesday. When Fitz arrived in New York he weighed nearly 208 pounds, and with his clothes on, which would bring him close to 200 in fighting trim.

He has taken off 16 or 12 pounds during his recent training, but few persons believe that it is possible for him to get down 20 pounds more.

Fitz is ever old to train, and the wiseacres shake their heads over the question. Fitz says he can do it with ease. He claims that he is under 180 pounds now, but he does not look it.

Fitz says he will leave for San Francisco shortly to begin training for the Gardner bout. Gardner is on the road with a theatrical enterprise, but will forsake that to train.

The contest will probably take place Thanksgiving Day. Eddie Graney was agreed upon as referee.

Prosperity must now do its utmost to keep its head above water.

A dead stillness pervades the atmosphere of Oyster Bay. President Roosevelt has returned to Washington.

Is the Democratic gubernatorial race really a contest for the honor of purifying the government or merely a race for the office?

The United States exceed all other countries in the increase ease vigorously, so that it may act as a deterrent to other countries in the quality of population.

BLOCK THESE THIEVES.

The case of R. C. Coffman, a Kentuckian who was charged $6.15 for a shave and hair cut, shows that the parasites on business who expect to make the World's Fair an opportunity to rob the public have begun work early.

Their game should be blocked at the start, by making such an example of those who held up Coffman as will not be forgotten. The police and prosecuting attorney should push the case vigorously, so that it may act as a deterrent to other thieves who may be looking to St. Louis for a haul. Licenses to do business should be promptly taken away from those who abuse them by robbing citizens or strangers under the guise of World's Fair charges. Now is the time to stop this evil and show the world that St. Louis is able to protect those who come here.

The number of capable men who do not want to be vice-president of the United States is as remarkable as the number who want to be president.

A FEMININE VICTORY.

The election of a majority of women members of the Kansas School Board is a victory of practical sense in practical politics of which the women may well feel proud.

The issue was, free courtship. The board last spring issued orders that women teachers should not receive attentions from men matrimonially minded, and should not marry during the school year.

Resenting this unwarranted interference with personal liberty the women of the state organized a cunning political machine and snowed the men under when the elections came on. The secret of it was that they kept their plans to themselves. The men did not dream of the near presence of the enemy in force and did not wake up until too late to save themselves from practical extinction.

Woman can learn to do anything from darning socks to packing caucuses. Wherever she is tried she succeeds. That is the experience so far recorded, and there is no reason to believe that if she puts her mind to it she cannot become just as efficient a boss as Matt Quay or Dick Croker. Let us hope, however that she will exercise her power in the public interest and not follow the foosteps of those worthies.

Not only can St. Louis women clean a street or an alley, but they can bear a hand when a fire has broken out and a conflagration is to be prevented.

ST. LOUIS MUST HAVE PLAY GROUNDS.

Comparing school conditions here and in Europe, Superintendent Soldan in Sunday's Post-Dispatch says that New York is approaching the European condition. "They have few playgrounds. The children play quietly upon the steps and in little courts." And he adds this significant sentence: "In time St. Louis may reach the same condition, but not yet."

Never! The school authorities must not permit St. Louis children to be robbed of the inestimable benefit of abundance of room for play and outdoor exercise. Now, while arrangements are being made for the purchase of sites for new schools, the board of education should reject every proposition that would involve the sacrifice of the necessary playground.

Wherever a school house is to be erected, it should be surrounded with breathing space and abundant room for play.

Confinement to "school steps and little courts" means puny, sickly children and feeble citizenship. The playground will pay for itself in healthy manhood and womanhood.

The weather bureau can only be forgiven when its predictions of bad weather fail. Thus it is always tempted to predict foul weather rather than fair.

COL. SELLERS OUTDONE.

If that famous promoter and dreamer of vast financial dreams, Col. Mulberry Sellers, were alive and in the flesh just now, he would undoubtedly lift his hat to the men who have floated the Consolidated Lake Superior Co. to a point infinitely surpassing his grandest achievement in the line of multimillion smash-up at the expense of the innocent outsider.

This is because the genius of Col. Sellers would be peculiarly capable of appreciating the Consolidated Lake Superior Co.'s situation. There would be something exceptionally congenial to the colonel's mind in the fact that this corporation has been able to secure a rating of a capitalization of $117,000,000 in this country's financial center, that it has ranked as one of the largest industrial concerns in the world, and that, nevertheless, its treasury is so empty that one of its officials had to barter a cart for six tons of fodder with which to assuage the hunger of certain of the company's horses and that there is no money left with which to pay the wages due to its employes.

It requires financial ability of a high order to accomplish such a feat of "promotion" as this, and no one could be more prompt that Col. Sellers in paying tribute to the performance.

The colonel was but a rude and unskilled pioneer in the "promoting" field, exuberant though his fancy and convincing his plausibility. His craft-masters are now in evidence, giving magnificent demonstrations of the possibilities of "a good front" and unlimited assurance.

"There's millions in it!" was the rallying slogan of Col. Sellers—and certainly there seem to have been millions for somebody in the Consolidated Lake Superior Co. deal. But not for the "innocent outsiders," the confiding public which has invested so many, many millions in the company's stock. "There may be some slight equity left for them," says the vice-president of the corporation—and there you are. Isn't there something to give pause and provoke thoughtful study in this lamentable situation?

The discovery of straw and kindling wood saturated with coal oil in the Agricultural building on the World's Fair grounds should serve a good purpose. It shows that great and unceasing vigilance will be necessary on the grounds wherever there is anything combustible. Not for a moment throughout the World's Fair period should the closest watchfulness be relaxed.

MAKE THE PLEDGES BINDING.

Both houses of the Municipal Assembly have passed the terminal loop bill. Both, despite the protests of the Post-Dispatch and all who wanted the remaining part of the levee reserved intact for river traffic, have consented to the additional elevated tracks below Market street. The shippers' committee of the Business Men's League say they will not seriously interfere with traffic on the levee.

The difference between the two houses was based solely on the compensatory advantages for the city in the betterment of terminal conditions, which the Post-Dispatch demanded. The House of Delegates adopted an amendment providing for a St. Louis bill of lading and definite terminal charges, with heavy penalties for failure to comply with the terms of the ordinance.

The new phase of the situation is the consent of the Terminal Association and its 14 controlling railroads to the St. Louis bill of lading and west side terminals, coupled with promises of other betterments.

These pledges, one of which—the bill of lading—is now in course of settlement, should be embodied in a carefully drawn amendment which will make the pledges of the railroads binding. All the fruits of the work which has been done should be assured St. Louis.

While it is true that the Post-Dispatch's publication of the actual facts of the terminal situation and its urgent demands for justice to St. Louis have opened the eyes of the railroad managers and brought them to a realizing sense of the necessity of radical changes and improvements, yet no chances of failures and disappointments should be taken. The conditions of the terminal revolution must be put into binding form and accepted in writing by the Terminal Association.

Having secured the fruits of recent labors, the business men should keep at work until not an obstacle to the greatest possible progress and business expansion in St. Louis remains. New St. Louis is in sight. Let us bring it within reach.

SUB.—First wedding anniversary, cotton.

C.—Marie Booth Russell is Mrs. Robert Mantell.

O. S.—Mr. Carle is same who played in Storks last year.

NAN.—Mr. R. D. Walsh was born in Galway County, Ireland.

J. W. L.—It is unlawful in Missouri to kill quail between Jan. 1 and Nov. 1.

J. W. BALL.—No premium on any 1876 or 1868 nickel half-dime; none on any dime of 1854.

H. H.—Cain's wife is not mentioned outside the Scriptures; so, by reading your Bible you may easily know as much about Mrs. Cain as we do.

EYEBROWS.—Clipping eyebrows will sometimes cause heavier growth. Occasional applications of a lotion made by dissolving 1[illegible] grains of sulphate of quinine in 2 ounces of cologne will stimulate. This ointment may cause a new growth: Red vaseline, 3 ounces; tincture cantharides, 1 ounce; Jamaica rum, 1 ounce; oil rosemary, 5 drops. Mix thoroughly, apply twice daily with eyebrow brush.

M. F.—Sulphur ointment (simple or compound) well rubbed in once or twice a day accompanied by internal use of spoonful of flowers of sulphur mixed with molasses, night and morning, is recommended for itch. If sulphur ointment is objectionable, a sulphur bath, or a lotion or bath of sulphurated potash, or of chloride of lime, may be substituted. Another remedy is balsam of Peru rubbed all over the body. A third is carbolic acid mixed with glycerine or linseed oil, in the proportion of one scruple of the acid to two ounces of whichever is used. A fourth is a lotion composed of one part of carbolate of sodium dissolved in 12 parts of water—rubbing affected parts three times a day. Continue treatment eight or ten days after the cure, in order to kill any acari or their eggs that may have lurked in clothing or bedding.

THE WANE OF SUMMER.

The summertime is waning. We can tell it by the way
The sun comes up so lazily to bring the smiling day;
And though the skies are pleasant and the clouds are soft and white,
We fear the gay caprices of the restless weather sprite.

The summertime is waning. There are odors on the breeze
That tell of nuts that ripen and of swart persimmon trees.
We know that soon the forest will be yellow, red and brown,
And frost will sparkle gaily on the leaves that flutter down.

The summertime is waning. Nights are crisp and clear and sweet,
And weary men no longer dread the fierce, relentless heat.
Oh, season of fruition, when to ripened sheaves we cling,
Sweet complement of summer, calm antithesis of spring!

"Coming It Strong."

The Daily Herald of Metropolis, Ill., has set a new pace for country journalism. The Herald is one of those nice, clean little papers that moves along the line of least resistance and which is always ready to apologize if it uses an adjective of less than three syllables in mentioning the name of any citizen. In fact, it may be said that all citizens—and especially all subscribers—look alike to the Herald, and if Mr. John Jimpkins, the genial and popular young brakeman on the I. C., stubs his toe or cuts a gash in his face while shaving he is entitled to just as long a "piece" in the paper as Miss Ethyl Spudds, the refined and beautiful daughter of our highly respected and distinguished fellow-townsman, Mr. James Y. Henry Spudds, president of the First National Bank, when she gives a swell blow-out in honor of Miss Tootsie Traddles of Marion, Ill.

Now, it seems that a citizen of Massac County, where the Herald is published, had the misfortune to be sentenced to the penitentiary for an indeterminate time, depending largely upon his conduct while in prison, and that he had been out on parole for a year. A Metropolis lawyer went to Springfield and secured a pardon for this unfortunate citizen, whose name is Weineke, whereupon the Herald smilingly remarked:

"This will be pleasant news to Mr. Weineke's many friends. He is a good citizen and respected highly in the neighborhod in which he lives."

With this recommendation back of him Mr. Weineke ought to get a county office or be elected superintendent of a Sunday school at the very least.

It is evident from the present models that voluminous puffed sleeves are to be much in vogue. When unlined they are delightful in the diaphanous textures, and to create this look of airiness the sleeves are sometimes in a different textile from the rest of the costume.

This oddity was expressed in a French gown for dinner and evening reception wear which showed all the bodice of net and the skirt of silk. White gros grain and white net spangled with jet were the materials of this costume, whose skirt was cut en princess and faced with under ruffles of black chiffon. The net bodice was in surplice form, the jet embroidered girdle of the skirt covering it some distance.

THE HOMEOPATHIC COW.

Brindle was quite ill. She had shut off her milk supply, she had a most terrible cough, she looked pale about the lips, but she wouldn't look a feed pail in the face. Farmer Brown was afraid he would lose her. "I shall send for the doctor, Brindle," he said. "I can't afford to have you ill. Why, I have had to put chalk and water in all the milk for the last week."

Started on a Run for Home.

"Well, if you do," said Brindle, "I want you to remember that I want a homeopathic doctor, for I can't stand that old-school treatment; that last dose of a quart of turpentine when I had colic made my head ache, and I don't propose to repeat it."

She said this with a stamp of her foot, for Brindle was a most determined cow.

"Oh! it makes no difference, Brindle," said her master. "One school is good as another for cows."

"For cows, indeed!" she cried, getting roused up; "as though our feelings were not to be considered as well as yours. Don't send any old-school man to me."

But Farmer Brown was brought up on big doses, and that afternoon he drove over to the village for Dr. Soakem, the old-school veterinarian, who always carried a handbag and heavy iron gray whiskers, of which he was very proud.

He looked Miss Brindle over. "Epizootic of the left hind bronchial stigmata," he repeated. "Dose, one pill."

He then took out a pill and offered it to Brindle. She promptly refused to swallow. Then he took from his pocket a tin putty blower, inserted the pill in it, filled his lungs, put one end in his mouth and the other in Brindle's. "Now, she will take it," he grinned.

But Brindle was homeopathic. She blew first and the pill went down the wrong patient.

"Oh! my," choked the doctor. "I'm poisoned," and he started on a run for home. Brindle ran after him and gave him a little help over the fence.

"He's afraid of his own medicine," she laughed. "Next time they will consult the lady's preference. You can lead a cow to pills, but you can't make her take them."

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

LET SOMETHING GOOD BE SAID.

(By James Whitcomb Riley.)

When over the fair fame of friend or foe
The shadow of disgrace shall fall; instead
Of words of blame, or proof of thus and so,
Let something good be said.

Forget not that no fellow-being yet
May fall so low but love may lift its head:
Even the cheek of shame with tears is wet,
If something good be said.

No generous heart may vainly turn aside
In ways of sympathy; no soul so dead
But may awaken strong and glorified,
If something good be said.

And so I charge ye, by the thorny crown,
And by the cross on which the Savior bled,
And by your own soul's hope of fair renown,
Let something good be said!

Little Fred: I guess that must be the kind people make when they start a war and kill each other.

Willie: From either Yale or Harvard. I don't remember which.

Mamma: Tommy, I heard you had been as bad as you could be while I was out this afternoon. What have you to say for yourself?

Tommy: Don't believe it, mamma. I could have been twice as worse.

"Johnny," said his mother, "I don't want you to play with those bad little boys on the street any more."

"All right, mamma," replied Johnny. "But you don't care if I fight 'em, do you?"

Little 5-year-old Nellie's parents were of the migratory sort, having moved four times within a year, says the Chicago News; so one day when her mother was unable to find the carpet-sweeper Nellie said reassuringly:

Advice to Saleswomen.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Referring to communication singned "Several Uptown Salesladies," the complainants should remember that the patronage of such stores come from those who are employed during the day.

It would simply put their employers out of business if the stores were closed evenings. Those dissatisfied young ladies should seek employment in housework, which is more remunerative, and certainly as respectable as a shopgirl.

Gas Meters Are Not Perfect.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I read in the editorial column this evening while perusing the Post-Dispatch the letter of Daniel J. Coffey.

It is a very broad assertion for a man to make that he knows "all about the manufacture of gas and the workings of that much-abused and villified gas meter."

Now, Mr. Editor, I have tested many tens of thousands of gas meters. I number amongst those for whom I have tested some of the leading gas companies, the United States government and thousands of gas consumers, and I would first state, for the information of your readers that, though a gas meter will not pass gas, provided that the burners are closed off and no leakage exists, yet it is a well-known fact to those who have studied the mechanism of the registration train of wheels, which is immediately in rear of the gas meter dial, that the wheels sometimes, through being defective, slip a cog and cause the consumer to be assessed for gas that he does not consume. Again, the clerical employes of gas companies sometimes send a consumer what is known in gas parlance as an average bill, frequently assessing a consumer for gas that he has not consumed. I want to be very frank here and to say that this is not done to beat the consumer, but merely to ascertain if he has used gas or not. A gas meter is a very peculiar piece of machinery; it frequently cheats its owners, the gas companies, again it frequently cheats the persons it supplies with gas.

In order to show how reliable a gas meter is, I would state that the supervisor of city lighting has recently certified certain gas meters running 17 45-100, 14 92-100, 10 49-100 and 9 29-100 per cent fast. This assertion, to which I can make affidavit, shows to what extent the gas meter is "much abused and vilified."

St. Louis. WILLIAM JAMES.

Thanks to a Teacher.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Having just moved to the city, nothing surprises me more than the good work accomplished by the public school teacher.

My son, having been out of school three years, was forced to attend. He entered No. 12, Pope School, unwillingly, Sept. 8. He came home and said, "My teacher makes us learn, and you have to do everything she says." Ever since then he comes and tells me what he learns and every evening he studies his lessons.

I am most thankful and grateful to the teacher of that room, as she has done more for that boy than ever I could do, he being naturally slow to learn and very hard to manage. A PARENT.

St. Louis.

The Garbage Question.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

It behooves us at this time to carefully watch the garbage situation and every business men's association, improvement league and kindred organization who have only the good of the city at heart should appoint special committees to keep its members fully informed regarding the "modus operandi" of things to come.

The first move of the "junket" committee was a visit to an offal reduction plant operated in connection with a big slaughter house across the river. As stated in the daily papers, the survivisors of that no doubt sickening trip were then escorted to Butler's plant on this side, and, after being very graciously fitted out in "linen dusters," took in the whole show without further inconvenience. Of course, the impression left on the majority was no doubt favorable to the works on this side, as anyone knows the difference between offal and garbage. It is very probable that silently the committee voted our own "stink works" a veritable "perfume warehouse" alongside of the one in East St. Louis.

You see, it is very importana ta have a "garbage expert" on these commissions, so as not to overlook the fine points. I hope every man in the city who is in favor of having garbage collected and disposed of properly will exert his utmost influence for a municipal plant, as then only will we have this most disgusting of all nuisances abated forever. It is the only way, as a little relection will show, and the sooner we realize it and prepare to take up the fight the easier will be the victory.

St. Louis. OSCAR F. EVERTZ.

MODEST BUT TRUTHFUL.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

A pretty rosy-cheeked country girl entered one of our large department stores one day this week. It was bargain day, and the crowd was greater than usual. She had wandered about from floor to floor, a little bewildered.

Seeing her, a floor-walker said: "Is anybody waiting on you?"

"Yes, sir," said the girl, blushing to the roots of her flaxen hair, "he's outside; he wouldn't come in."

HE RECOGNIZED IT.

From the Chicago Tribune.

The man at the typewriter, during a lull in the clicking of the telegraph instrument, which had been giving off news from the Balkans, idly hammered out this line, to see if his machine was all right:

Zxcvbnm, asdfgrjkl; qwertyuiopuitre.

He neglected to erase it when the telegraph instrument started up again. The conscientious compositor set it up, and the proofreader carelessly let it go through.

Next day the editor sent for the proofreader.

"Can you explain that?" he demanded.

"I'm not sure," said the proofreader, "but it looks as if it might be a cry from Macedonia."

A MOMENT'S MERRIMENT

THE NOSE AND GRINDSTONE CLUB.

Conducted By

UNCLE PEANUTBRITTLE.

(ROY L. M'CARDELL.)

THIS is the age of henpeckery and feminine domination. What use to commiserate the disfranchisement of the negro in the South when the white man of the whole country is without vote or voice?

It is time to strike a blow for man's rights! We will organize a defense association to be known as "The Nose and Grindstone Club."

The women have become overbearing and intolerant. The playhouse, the press, and even politics are become supine institutions that exist only to cater and cringe to women. Books are no longer written for men to read. Who cares nowadays what plays please papa or Cousin Charley, so long as mamma and the girls think them just too sweet for anything, and the costumes just too lovely for anything? Women are invading all trades and professions. It will not be long before our best selling books will close with descriptions like these:

"As for Marcia Murdock failing in her attempt to poison the mind of Harold Throckmorton against Lilith, his Canadian bride, she settled down to the humdrum existence of a loop-the-loop artiste in a small Missouri town, where her cruel caprice that had nearly wrecked the lives of Harold and Lilith was never known to any save those who read the Sunday papers."

Are we men or mice? But no, the comparison is futile. If we were mice the women would be afraid of us!

Let us make a bold stand. Let us cast aside hypocrisy. Let us come out into the open. Let us defy the tyrant, women!

Let our watchword be:

"Millions for offense, but not one cent for alimony."

But in the beginning we must be as subtle as foxes and as wise as serpents. Begin to smoke in the parlor now, when the lace curtains have been taken down for the summer. By winter, following Uncle Peanutbrittle's advice, you may have so tamed the tyrant women of your household that you will no longer be compelled to go into the cellar to smoke.

Begin to demand now some of the money you earn. But do so adroitly, as we are not sufficiently strong in numbers or disciplined in organization to go upon a strike or to brave a lockout.

We must have a defense fund. Uncle Peanutbrittle will take charge of it.

It will be as well not to antagonize the dominating sex too much at the beginning. Let them be lulled to fancied security until the great day comes, and come it will, when the men of this nation, under the leadership of Uncle Peanutbrittle, the unmarried and unterrified, will shake off the shackles of henpeckery.

"But, remember, Bill, no violence."

Keep it quiet that we are organizing and agitating.

Avoid all suspicious actions. Do not arouse the intuitive instinct of wives and sweethearts that there is something unpleasant in store for them, because you look happy and contented.

We need not fear that the unquiet sex will ever read this department and so discover our secret. It will contain no figures six feet high and three inches thick showing the new sleeves worn with this season's summer gowns. There will be no erect-form corset halftones printed here. The marriage notices will be printed on another page. We will keep this department far from the bargain sale advertisements. "How to Remove Superfluous Flesh, Rust Stains and Facial Blemishes by Will Power," will be a topic never touched on here.

We will run the portraits of prominent figures in the movement for man's rights from time to time, and the women will think it is a reading notice advertisement and will skim lightly over it to pick up the cross-examination in the society divorce case cohtinued from page 1.

Uncle Peanutbrittle is taking up the fight for you, men of America.

For married men whose fetters fester, for the unmarried and unthinking, to whom he would show the snares and pitfalls in their paths.

This is Uncle Peanutbrittle's department and his duty. Are you with him or Grindstone Club."

SCRAPS FROM KANSAS.

From the Atchison Globe.

The average woman's idea of bravery is to discharge a hired girl.

People never charge to hard luck anything that happens to a reckless man.

Grief doesn't affect a man as seriously as it affects a woman, for the reason that he gets back to his meals quicker.

We have noticed that when a man is fighting mad about your wrongs, showing enthusiasm to a proper degree, he is usually apt to be also drunk.

A bachelor is always spoiled, but the attention he receives is cold and clammy compared with that which is given him if, in addition to being a bachelor, he is also a preacher.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Woman poses and man proposes.

One way to beat a retreat is by jumping a summer resort hotel bill.

When a couple are matched but not mated it is a sort of friction match.

When the unexpected happens it is usually inferior to what was expected.

A woman's sphere is the home. Any bride of a week is willing to admit this.

Even a poor man who hasn't a dollar may be well off as long as he doesn't marry.

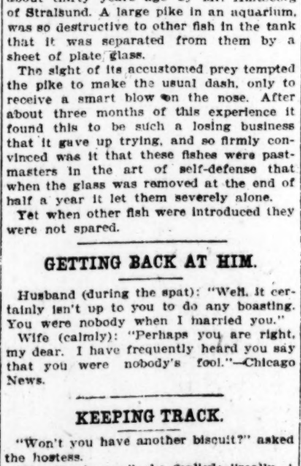

No self-respecting man cares to make love to a girl who makes loves to a pet dog.

It is easier for love to find the way than it is for a good many young men to pay the way.

A pleasure party never gets credit for having a jolly good time unless there is at least one liar in the bunch.

It is almost as difficult for a man to get over a case of love sickness as it is for a woman to get over a barbed-wire fence.

A FISH STORY.

Sir Herbert Maxwell contributes to the Monthly Review an attractive article on the debatable subject of "Animal Intelligence."

Some remarkable experiments were made about thirty years ago by Mr. Amtsberg of Stralsund. A large pike in an aquarium, was so destructive to other fish in the tank that it was separated from them by a sheet of plate glass.

The sight of its accustomed prey tempted the pike to make the usual dash, only to receive a smart blow on the nose. After about three months of this experience it found this to be such a losing business that it gave up trying, and so firmly convinced was it that these fishes were past-masters in the art of self-defense that when the glass was removed at the end of half a year it let them severely alone.

Yet when other fish were introduced they were not spared.

Johnny Cake Made of Southern Cornmeal.

Mix together a cup of sweet milk, a cup of buttermilk, a teaspoonful of salt, a scant teaspoonful of soda and a tablespoonful of melted butter. Add enough meal to make it of proper consistency to roll out. Roll into a sheet a half inch thick and lay in a buttered dripping pan. Bake for three-quarters of an hour. As soon as it begins to brown dip a rag in melted butter and pass it lightly over the top of the bread. During the browning process do this half a dozen times, or until the bread is brown and crisp. In serving this bread, break, not cut, it into pieces of the desired size.

Chow-Chow.

Mix together the following vegetables: Tiny cucumbers, small peeled onions, string beans freed of the strings, a cauliflower cut into small clusters, green tomatoes sliced and four small long red peppers. Pack these vegetables in a large crock, alternating each layer with one of salt. Cover with cold water. Lay a weighted board on top of the pickles to keep them from floating. Leave for three days, drain the pickles, wash with fresh water, and let them lie in more fresh water for 24 hours. In a gallon of vinegar cook a teaspoonful each of celery seed, white mustard seed, whole black peppers, and one of ground horseradish, two teaspoonfuls of tumeric, three tablespoonfuls of ground mustard and a cup and a half of brown sugar. Put over the fire in a preserving kettle, and when it reaches a boil drop in the pickles. Be careful that there are no decayed ones among them. Simmer for five minutes, remove with perforated spoon and put into a stone crock. Pour the vinegar over them and let them stand for 48 hours. Drain off the vinegar, return it to the fire, add to it a tablespoonful of curry powder, and when the vinegar is boiling pour it over the pickles in the crock. When the mixture is stone cold you may pack the pickles and vinegar in small jars and seal.

To Preserve Brushes.

Good hair brushes are costly items, and a way to keep the bristles stiff and clean for years is worth knowing. A Russian coiffeur gives this recipe: Have ready two basins; put a lump of soda the size of a walnut in one and three parts fill it with boiling water; the other basin should be three parts filled with water as cold as you can get it, to which you have added sufficient lemon juice or good white vinegar to give it a noticeably acid taste. Shake the bristles of the brush well up and down in the boiling water till they are clean, then at once rinse them thoroughly in the cold water and stand them up to dry in the air or in a warm place, but not too near the fire. Of course, the backs of the brushes must not be wetted.

Directions for Making Puff Paste.

One pound bread flour, three-quarters pound washed table butter. Put your flour into a bowl, use enough water to make stiff dough. Knead and wash the butter in cold water. Put on floured board or pan and chill for about 15 minutes. Take the dough, roll out about three-eighths of an inch thick, fold both ends toward the middle, lay over again, repeat the rolling out, which must be in square form, put on ice to chill. When dough and butter are thoroughly chilled take the former, roll out the same way, cover the surface equally with the butter, fold as before and repeat the rolling out. Put on ice, let stand for one hour, roll out again, back on ice again. After one hour the paste is ready. Roll out about one-quarter inch thick, cut out, bake in medium quick oven. Of course, the quantity may be varied. It takes four to six rollings to make good paste. Use only the best butter and have everything cold.

Cleaning Marble.

For removing grease stains from marble dissolve a quarter-pound of concentrated lye in a pint of cold water, add enough of fuller's earth and whiting to make a thick paste. Put a generous layer of this over the stains and allow to remain several days, then brush off. Should traces still be noticeable soften the dry mixture with a little boiling water and put on another application. Marble tops on bureaus and washstands often catch spots of medicine or other liquids; for this sprinkle salt over a scrubbing brush and apply vigorously to the spot. After this use a mop wrung from hot water to the remaining spot. Apply kerosene for a short time and wash off with soap and water, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. The following method is said to be especially fine for cleaning white marble: Make a paste of a quarter-pound of whiting, an eighth of a pound each of soda and melted laundry soap. Boil the mixture until it becomes a paste. Before it is quite cold spread over the spots and leave it for a full day. Then wash off in soft water and dry with an old linen cloth.

How to Launder Cotton Gowns.

For delicate cotton gowns which one may not care to subject to soap and water I recommend the following treatment: Boil a pound of rice in a gallon of water until the rice is soft. Pour all into a washtub and let it stand until lukewarm. Then wash the goods, using the rice as soap. Rinse in tepid water and in place of laundry starch make rice starch. Dew will not affect muslins of any kind stiffened with rice. Boil a quart of rice in a quart of water until perfectly soft. Press through a strainer and strain again, if necessary, into clear water. The amount of water determines the stiffness. Dry all colored wash goods in the attic, or out of the sun somewhere.

MUCH IN LITTLE.

The electric roads of the United States carried last year three times the population of the earth.

Rural parks to the number of 352 are maintained by trolley car companies of the United States.

It is said that London has no less than 313 parks and open spaces, while in 1884 the number was only 103. They are reckoned to have cost $10,995,000.

Australia wants 300,000 British wives, Canada wants 90,000 and Cape Colony would like 30,000. It is stated that there are nearly 1,000,000 more women than men in the British Isles.

There is a preacher in Emporia, Kan., who is probably listening sharply for a call now. He asked the women in his congregation on a recent Sunday to "please remove what they called their hats."

ROCKEFELLER FLEES FROM HIS PRESERVE

Fear of Harm From Indignant Populace Causes Him to Move His Family From Scene.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BRANDON, N. Y., Sept. 28.—William Rockefeller's big camp at Bay Pond was closed today.

The abandonment of the Rockefeller's autumnal season in the mountains, as had been predicted, was an accomplished fact when a special started for New York with the family and guests.

Neither William Rockefeller nor his son, William G., was present at the exodus.

The manner in which Mr. Rockefeller left the park to which he is so much attached indicates the great fear which has grown out of the murder of Orlando P. Dexter.

The 15 families in Brandon, all that are left of a once prosperous village of more than 1000 persons, are wondering if William Rockefeller will ever come back. They think they see in his departure the building again of the village.

"I have always said, ever since Mr. Rockefeller began to wreck our place," said Henry Fauche, a French Canadian storekeeper, "that I had lived here 18 years and had seen Brandon become like a graveyard, but that I would live here to see it build up again.

"It seeems that what I have said may come true. Perhaps Mr. Rockefeller will sell out to the state, and then we will be allowed to make our town again what it once was.

"None of the people here has ever seen Mr. Rockefeller. The multi-millionaire has lived in the big house at the camp so hedged about by an army of servants and guides that no one of Brandon could see him, and, of course, they never met him in the forest, for it is a penalty to go among the trees on the Rockefeller preserve.

"It would be an injustice to these honest, gentle people here to say that they hate Mr. Rockefeller. They feel that he has not been kind to them, but they are not vindictive. Nevertheless, they are not weeping because of his leaving."

WANTS FAIRBANKS AS RUNNING MATE

President Said to Have Asked Senator, Through Friends, to Accept Vice-Presidency

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LAPORTE, Ind., Sept. 28.—The statement is generally published in the newspapers of this region today, especially in those that are closest to Congressman Crumpacker, that President Roosevelt has delegated the representative from the Tenth District to ascertain whether Senator Fairbanks would accept the second place on the national ticket next year.

It is said that the President believes it would be good policy to select a vice-presidential candidate from Indiana.

The President's desire to have Senator Fairbanks on the ticket with him first became known about a year ago.

Secretary of the Navy Moody, one of the President's most confidential political advisers, and Congressman Crumpacker became close friends through their long association in the House of Representatives.

Mr. Moody, a year ago, undertook to find out through Judge Crumpacker whether Senator Fairbanks would accept second place on the national ticket. Mr. Crumpacker's reply was that he probably would not.

There has now been a renewal of the negotiations on the subject and Crumpacker has been commissioned to learn the final decision of the Senator.

REV. STELZLE LEAVES ST LOUIS

Pastor of Markham Church Says Farewell and Trustees Will Meet.

The board of trustees of Markham Memorial Church, Julia and Menard streets, will meet Thursday to select a successor to the present pastor, the Rev. Charles Stelzle.

After four successful years at the head of the church the Rev. Mr. Stelzle preached his farewell sermon there Sunday evening. He leaves for New York shortly to become one of the secretaires of the board of home missions.

Under his leadership the Markham Memorial Church received 128 additions during the past year and now stands fifth among the 7000 Presbyterian churches in the United States. Its Sunday School is said to be the largest west of the Mississippi.

ARCHBISHOP KAIN HAS APPENDICITIS

Necessity for Operation Will, It Is Feared, Delay Return of Prelate to St. Louis.

Coadjutor Archbishop Glennon has received word that Archbishop Kain, now a patient at St. Agnes Sanitarium, in Baltimore, is in worse condition, and it is understood that he has appendicitis. The paralysis from which he has been suffering since last May has crept closer to his heart.

It is expected that an operation will be performed this week. His physician, Dr. Charles G. Hill, considers the archbishop very low.

The archbishop had made arrangements to return to St. Louis next week, but owing to the serious turn in his condition he has upon the advice of Cardinal Gibbons and others changed his plans.

Drs. John D. Blake, professor of surgery of the Baltimore Medical Dept. and R. W. Johnson were in consultation with Dr. Hill Sunday. Among those who have visited Archbishop Kain recently were Archbishop Kane of Dubuque, Archbishop Glennon, Archbishop Harty and Bishop Foley of Detroit.

Archbishop Kain hopes to be able to return to St. Louis before Christmas, but does not intend to resume his duties as archbishop.

ARGUMENT FOR STATEHOOD

Oklahoma First on Ground With World's Fair Exhibit Car

Oklahoma is making an advance showing in miniature of the exhibition of her resources which she will make at the World's Fair. A large passenger car, filled with Oklahoma-raised grain, fruits, cotton and other articles of agriculture, has been switched to a sidetrack at Forsyth Junction, almost within the shadow of the World's Fair gates, and is being made the meeting-place of many who are interested in the resources of the wonderful new country.

The car is draped and festooned with Oklahoma grasses, and on tables and in cases arranged on either side of the aisle are exhibited the other products. There are stalks of corn 16 feet high and watermelons weighing 87 pounds.

Horace J. Newberry of Hobart is in charge of the car, which has been touring Ohio and Indiana since early in August.

SPEEDY TRIAL FOR HOFFMANN

Monroe County Court Takes Up Case of Slayer of Father-in-Law.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WATERLOO, Ill., Sept. 28.—The September term of the Monroe County circuit court, Judge William D. Holder of Belleville presiding, began here this morning.

The most important case to be taken up is that of William A. Hoffman, who killed his father-in-law, William Brandt, at the latter's home near Maeystown, Sept. 8, and who was captured while asleep under a tree near Belleville four days later. The state's attorney declares he will do all he can to push this case to a speedy trial. There is much interest in the case, as the victim was the only white man murdered in the county for ten years.

There are 14 law cases, 3 criminal cases and 32 chancery cases on the docket. In addition to Hoffman, John A. Linnerty, Jr., acused of forgery, and Anton Knippler, charged with threatening to kill his father-in-law and awaiting a hearing as to his sanity, are in the jail here.

Punished for Not Treating.

A fractured skull is the result of Clarence Tribble's refusal to buy a drink for Calvin McHall, porter in a saloon at Seventh and Chestnut streets. McHall is charged with striking Tribble behind the right ear with a brick. Tribble lives at 1015 Olive street. He was taken unconscious to the City Hospital. McHall was arrested after a long pursuit.

Woman's Nightmare

No woman's happiness can be complete without children; it is her nature to love and want them as much so as it is to love the beautiful and pure. The critical ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass, however, is so fraught with dread, pain, suffering and danger, that the very thought of it fills her with apprehension and horror. There is no necessity for the reproduction of life to be either painful or dangerous. The use of Mother's Friend so prepares the system for the coming event that it is safely passed without any danger. This great and wonderful remedy is always applied externally, and has carried thousands of women through the trying crisis without suffering.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT, COACH DRIVER, WINS US WITH A WHIP

The Singer-Actor Has a Fine Play in "Terence"—"Lady Rose's Daughter" at the Olympic Monday Night—Other Openings.

Chauncey Olcott's plot has thickened; but his voice has not. It is sweet, as of yore.

This thickening of the plot makes his "Terence," in which he opened at the Century Theater last night, a capital play for Mr. Olcott. It afforded him an opportunity to do as much acting as singing, and it is almost possible to pay him the compliment of saying he acts as well as he sings.

"Terence," in a word, is intensely dramatic. It opens sluggishly with a dialogue too unimportant to be rendered so the audience may hear it, but that is positively the last objection to the play or the manner in which it is acted. It builds one breath-taking situation upon another, until the whole structure simply vibrates with excitement. If the Olcott plays of other years have been held as mere webs around Mr. Olcott's singing, no such criticism is applicable to "Terence." Indeed, no!

The play is a dramatization of Mrs. B. M. Croker's novel. It is at home at Ballybay, Ireland, in this day of grace. When it opens, the whole countryside is in excitement over the personality of Terence, a young man who has mysteriously appeared upon the scene and is driving the mail coach between Ballybay and Shule. It seems that Terence is a mighty fine fellow. The children cry for him, the young people are enraptured with him, and the old folks dote upon him.

Poor story teller, indeed, who could not bring things out of the commonplace into the life of this Terence, who goes around with a song on his lips and is suspected by some few people as being a coach driver for a better purpose than the pay. At any rate Maureen d'Arcy appears upon the scene, come from England to spend the season at Ballybay. You can guess who she is? The coachman's heiress—the girl who will fall in love with him and stand out in the trysting place, under the star-lit skies, and swear to him with all her woman's soul that she loves him and will cleave to him—coachman or no coachman, but "a man for a' that!"

Correct. It is she.

Almost anyone could guess, too, that the man Terence in some spectacular manner will save the girl's life. Also correct. Runaway.

As the play proceeds, it develops that Terence is really the last of a famous Irish family dispossessed of its vast estates around Ballybay, and that this young man has come from India, where he has been serving in the army while Ireland thought him dead. He is back now on the trail of Foulcher, a lawyer, who has stolen the estate and has papers which Desmond must secure to be restored to his own. The play becomes exceedingly dramatic from that time on. Such a web of plots as the English and Irish about Ballybay do make of it. Maureen d'Arcy and her coach-driving lover make a sad mess of propitiating the wrath of Maureen's people. Foulcher hires an assassin to kill him. Two acts are required to work this material up to an intense pitch, and a third act is necessary to make the most of these splendid situations. Mr. Olcott interlards it all with his singing. His new song, "My Sonny Boy," is delightful. He sings "My Own Dear Irish Queen," with all the animation and vim of his vigorous self. He had a packed house Sunday night, and it would have had him sing half the night had he consented. Amanda Willingdon, as Lady Fanshawe in the play, is too pretty and graceful to fall without the boundaries of anyone's demands in the matter of feminine characters on the stage. Adelaide Keim, as Maureen d'Arcy, deserves commendation for the strength she gives to her parts. Mr. Olcott, of course, makes an adorable Terence. The bill is there, and he fills it.

Fay Davis and her Empire Theater Stock Company will open at the Olympic Monday night in "Lady Rose's Daughter." The company arrived from the East Monday morning. There is a very widespread interest to see what Mr. Frohman's capable people will make of the complex situations, strange natures and dramatic denouements of Mrs. Humphrey Ward's novel.

Fuel has come for six more high bonfires that may be built at Handlan's Park, where Pain's "Ancient Rome" is the attraction. An extra consignment of fireworks arrived Saturday, that Pain's biggest effect might be put on as a special feature this week, and on Friday the fire carnival will be the star card. Pain's fire carnival is the big event in New York whenever Pain produces it, and the chief pyrotechnical artist of Manhattan Beach, "Jack" Craig, has been sent on to superintend the big "set off."

There is really considerable ability hidden away in the ambiguous name of Patrice, an actress who is playing "Driven From Home" at the Imperial Theater this week. While this capable lady gives us very little of her name, she is sovereign with her ability. She appears in the play as Margie Maynard, who is driven from home by her father in a fit of rage, and what is most aptly described as being a dreadful mistake. The adventures of this girl afford an emotional part of real opportunities, and Patrice makes much of it.

She has a singular personality and easily dominates the sentiment of the play. She was vigorously applauded.

Hashagen's vaudeville bill this week is pleasing. Mona Serra repeated on Sunday his Spanish web and flying rings specialties of last week; Zella Clayton entertained in pleasing songs and dances; the Show Girls presented a neat musical act with military trimmings, and David and Myrtle Lee went well in their knife and battle-ax throwing feats and marionette theater act. The balance of the program contains meritorious features among them being illustrated songs by Abbie McLean; Gordon sisters, in operatic vocal selections and impersonations; Albert Sommer, wire walker; Marie Adams, rolling globe specialist; George Graves, humorous juggling act, and a fresh budget of biograph pictures. Hereafter Monday evening will be recognized as children's evening, when they will be admitted to all privileges without charge of any sort.

Sunday audiences at the Grand certainly appreciate musical comedies. They crowded the house twice Sunday, when "The Show Girl" opened a week's engagement. As a spectacular production, the piece is rich in gorgeous wardrobe, and the electric calciums work overtime; but on the whole, the play does not differ so materially from any of all those of the same sort, except in locale. About the most catchy lyric is "Reggie's Family Tree," and it will be a wonder if we do not hear it whistled or working it. It only needs a funny fall, hard luck on the part of a comedian, or a nonsensical line to produce laughter which approximates hysteria. Mr. Whitney's production is long on tomfoolery. Sample: "Why, I am so rich I could make Croesus look like a rural mail carrier at a coronation banquet." Similies are offered. For instance: "If the price of an ocean liner was 1 cent, I couldn't buy a gangplank." When someone complained at an impromptu stage performance that the show could not be seen on account of a large hat in front, someone else cut the flowers off the offending headgear, and two-thirds of the audience had a spasm of laughter.

Stella Mayhew, as the friend in a hard luck dramatic company, is responsible for most of the real fun, for she is a genuine comedienne and a surprise to most of us who have only seen her as a "Mammy" in "Suwanee River." Her singing specialties, particularly "Isn't It Lovely to Be on the Stage," brought her back to view many times. Other specialties ingeniously appreciated were by the Faust sisters and songs by Fern Melrose, Fred Truesdell, R. E. Warren, Sam J. Mylie, Sid Forrester and Josephine Floyd.

Miss Melrose's part of Sykie is in good hands. She is very pleasing, and her voice shows cultivation and native sweetness.

The bonds of kinship suffer terribly in the local playhouses this week. Two daughters are driven from home by angry parents, and one poor boy is given to a burglar by his father, who thus seeks to revenge himself upon the lad's mother. In such a vale of tears Chauncey Olcott's beaming countenance and lilting song are like the morning sun and the singing lark after a bad night.

Incidentally, we are learning that Mr. Edward put some very pretty music together in "When Johnny Comes Marching Home." It grows upon us.

The last of the Weil band concerts at Tower Grove Park was given Sunday afternoon. Mr. Weil has made them very popular and has added much to his prestige as a conductor.

Miss Neva Harrison is not one of the girls who sigh to be boys. Miss Harrison just goes ahead and becomes a boy. She is a rollicking, boisterously fine boy, too. She is at the Crawford Theater this week in "Two Little Vagrants." The piece is a melodrama of startling situations. Fan Tan, the boy, is taken in youth by a burglar, with his father's consent, and is raised among criminals. He eventually falls in with gypsies, and his experiences are all a boy could demand. It is easily the most stirring piece offered at Crawford this season.

Ross and Fenton are the headliners in the Columbia's new bill this week. They offer a sketch entitled "Oliver Twist."

Havlin's gets off well for the week, having two packed houses Sunday to see "Her First False Step." The play opens in the country, where a girl marries unwisely, and is then transferred to the city, where it remains. The piece is unique in the introduction of a lion den with real lions in it. Of course, someone is cast into this, and the rescue immensely popularizes the rescuer with the audience. Another feature is the reproduction of a circus, with its acrobats, clowns, etc. Ida Hamilton, Frederick Webber, Charles H. Stewart and Mrs. Charles Peters have prominent parts.

UNCONSCIOUS MAN'S REVENGE

His Memory Is Blank for Two Weeks Following an Assault by Robbers.

JOPLIN, Mo., Sept. 28.—The case of H. W. Mattoon, who disappeared after being assaulted and robbed in Webb City two weeks ago, and who says he was unconscious from that time until his memory returned to him in a field in Arkansas, Saturday, is attracting much attention.

Mattoon says he does not recall a single incident of his wanderings. How he traveled, where and how he subsisted are mysteries to him. He says:

"It is all beyond me. I remember absolutely nothing that happened since the night of Sept. 11 in Webb City. I must have wandered from place to place like one in a trance. I am bewildered more than any man you ever saw."

He arrived in Joplin from Fayetteville, Ark., Sunday.

JUDGE GIVES A BOY ADVICE.

He Had Thrown a Twig Without Looking and It Struck a Motorman.

With the advice to look where he throws, Justice Kleiber Monday morning discharged Fred Bremsteller, 16 years old, who was before him on the charge of hitting a motorman on the arm with a twig.

Fred lives at 2626 Cherokee street, and was cleaning the yard. A Cherokee street car happened to pass just as the diligent Fred picked up the twig, gave it a twist and a jerk and sent it out into the street. It sailed beautifully, went through the open car window and hit the shoulder of D. Beatty, a motorman who was riding inside. The car crew had Fred arrested.

Circuit Clerk Has New Office.

The office of the circuit clerk was moved from its old room on the second floor of the courthouse Monday morning on the first floor. The office is now at the Broadway entrance to the building, on the Chestnut street side. The office is fitted out with new furniture and desks.

ERRING HUSBANDS SIGN THE PLEDGE

After Long Years of Happiness Two Wives Are Abused, but They Forgive and All Are Content.

Two husbands who had erred for the first time against their wives were fined in the Dayton street police court Monday morning and were in turn forgiven.

Mrs. Mary Laws of 4241 North Broadway said that she and her husband had lived together in happiness for 15 years, and that Saturday, after a trivial quarrel, he had slapped her. They have six children.

She was asked if she wanted to see him punished and indignantly replied that she did. Laws was fined and it was explained to his wife that he must go to the Workhouse. Then Mrs. Laws broke down. She did not want him sent there.

Judge Pollard asked if she would be willing to forgive him if he would sign the pledge and promise never to mistreat her again.

Mrs. Laws replied that she would and Laws signed the pledge and gave the promise.

While this case was in progress the most interested spectators in the courtroom were Mr. and Mrs. Lee Dix of 2112 North Broadway, who there in the same relation as the Laws couple.

Mrs. Dix testified that she and her husband had lived together twelve years without a quarrel and that to her great surprise and indignation he had slapped her in the course of a dispute Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dix also have six children. Mrs. Dix's name is also Mary.

Mr. Dix was also fined and also forgiven by his wife under conditions similar to those in the Laws case. The two couples who had not known each other left the court contented.

Judge Pollard says that of all the cases in which he has had the defendant sign the pledge not one has reappeared before him.

This Thief Has Wheels.

John Mahoney of 411 Spruce street has complained to the police that some unidentified person helped himself to the off front wheel of Mahoney's wagon, which was left unguarded for a few moments. The wheel was rolled away by the thief, and its wabbling course could be traced for some distance, but the police have not been able to locate it.

Thrown 20 Feet by Car.

Mrs. Ella Summerton of 4232 Botanical avenue is at her home suffering from bruises received when she was struck by a Suburban car at Prather and Manchester avenues. She was thrown 20 feet.

POST-DISPATCH DAILY RECORD OF DOINGS IN MARKET AND FINANCIAL WORLD

STILL LOWER FOR STEEL STOCKS

On an Exciting Opening This Morning Steel Common Touches 15 3-8 and Preferred 60 1-8.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Any bear operator who was not satisfied with the condition at the opening this morning was certainly a hard man to please. All the gossip was bearish and the news from abroad was not reassuring. London was lower all around, the Steel stocks being especially low there, selling at 15¾ for the common and 60¾ for the preferred. Consols were again lower, selling at the lowest price for many years.

That thrifty bugbear, "something hanging over the market," had been working overtime since Saturday and was in evidence at every trading post. It had been said that the giants were to get together this morning and support the market, but they did not appear at the opening.

The first sale of Steel preferred was 4000 shares at 60⅝, the London price, and the opening of the common was also 4000 shares at 15⅝. The decline in both was rapid from the opening, the common touching 15⅜ and the preferred going to 60⅛, both new low records.

A strike is threatened among the soft coal operators of the Pennsylvania Coal Co. and the stock of the Pennsylvania Railroad was off in consequence.

Two tractions were also a point of attack. Brooklyn Rapid Transit dropped on active sales to 30½ and Metropolitan got to 101½. Louisville & Nashville was off over 3 points from the close Saturday, touching 95 in the first few minutes of trading.

There was plenty of activity to the market and many of the trades were in round blocks. The room was much concerned in the deliveries and the question as to whether all of the sheets would go through was one of the most absorbing topics.

At the end of the first half hour there was some slight rallies from the low point, but they were only fractional in the active stocks.

Extreme weakness was shown in United States Steel stocks, which went to new low records, the 5 per cent bonds selling down to 68¾, and the common stock to 15 in the first hour. The traction shares also showed pronounced heaviness and a number of the higher class railway shares made declines of one point and over. Metropolitan Street Railway, at 100¾, touched the lowest price reached in years.

The selling movement came from all parts of the room and was doubtless inspired in a large measure by lower quotations from abroad, all the European financial centers showing an unfriendly attitude toward this market.

Brooklyn reported large sales for Philadelphia, Pittsburg and middle west accounts. Efforts to rally the market soon after the opening and at other times during the early session proved unsuccessful.

On the decline many stop orders were uncovered and there was liquidation all along the line. A good deal of the selling of Steel issues was caused by the report that there was considerable dissatisfaction among the members of the bond underwriting syndicate and that several of the members were to withdraw.

The fire at the power house of Brooklyn Rapid Transit added to the weakness in that stock and it was also said that some of the pool holdings in that, as well as in Metropolitan, were being liquidated on account of inability to carry the stocks any longer.

Shorts have been covering pretty well this morning and the short interest is undoubtedly much smaller than at this time last week. In New York Central there was short covering enough to lift the price a point to 116. The selling of Louisville & Nashville is supposed to come from interests which were identified in taking the control from the Belmonts.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Prices broke sharply from Saturday's level, a gain of ¼ in Union Pacific being the solitary exception. Louisville & Nashville dropped 3½ and then rallied 1¼. The local traction stocks were all weak, Metropolitan Street Railway falling 3¼, Manhattan 1¼, and Brooklyn Transit ¾. There were running sales of 4000 shares of United States Steel preferred at 60¾@61, compared with 61⅜, and the common stock and the second mortgage bonds opened at new low records, the former at 15⅝ and the latter at 69½. There were losses of 1 to 1⅜ in Pennsylvania, Missouri Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Reading, Southern Railway preferred, People's Gas and Amalgamated Copper. United States Steel subsequently sold down to 15⅜, and the preferred to 60⅛, a new low record. The market continued feverish and unsettled after the opening.

After a further short period of downward prices the market began to respond to buying orders that were met and a rally followed. Pennsylvania, Metropolitan Street Railway and People's Gas recovered a point and a few other stocks returned to last week's final prices. Fresh liquidation in the United States Steel issues and the western stocks weakened the market and prices fell back to below the opening level.

United States Steel sold at 15, the preferred at 59¾ and the bonds at 68¾. Material losses were made by a number of dormant stocks running from 2 to 8 points, the last named in Chicago & Eastern Illinois certificates. By 11 o'clock active stocks were down between 1 and 2 points. Heavy selling of Reading lowered it 2¼ and Metropolitan Street Railway lost 4 in all.

The downward movement extended into the second hour, carrying the declines to 2@2½c for Atchison, St. Paul, Missouri Pacific, B. & O., Delaware & Hudson, Rock Island preferred, Manhattan, Sugar and some others. The liquidation seemed to have spent its force then and a rally of a point followed in those stocks, which had suffered most. Prices gave way again before noon, when Amalgamated dropped 2¼. United States Steel preferred touched 59¾ and the bonds 67¾.

Bonds were weak at noon.

Market This Morning Was Again Lower, Though Trading Was on a Small Scale

TRACTIONS AGAIN LOWER

Transit Sells to $16.25 and Preferred to $63.75—Missouri Trust Goes to $123.

New York had no monopoly on weak markets this morning, for the prices on the St. Louis Stock Exchange showed the same tendancy toward lower prices that were noted in New York. The tractions were the main point of attack and Transit declined from $16.50 to $16.25 on small sales. There was a liberal demand at $16, which was not satisfied. Preferred was also on the down turn and sold to $63.75. The bonds were not offered, the best bid being $79.50.

Missouri Trust lost another point today, selling at $123.25 and $123. An odd lot brought $124. Commonwealth was unchanged at $242.

Central Coal & Coke was weaker, going at $58.50, ex-dividend of 1½ per cent. The Candy stocks were barely mentioned.

Granite-Bimetallic Mining was in better demand, 505 shares going at 50 cents.

BRAVE LITTLE BOY DEFENDS MOTHER

Landon Osborne Drives Burly Intruder From the House and Is Brutally Assaulted.

Fourteen-year-old Landon Osborne will carry for life a badge of courage. The badge will be a scar which physicians say will follow the wound the boy received in defending his mother.

Mrs. Sarah Osborne and her son live at 3519 North Second street. Several weeks ago Mrs. Osborne rented for a nominal sum two shed rooms at the rear of her house to J. B. Reed, his wife and five children. The Reeds were almost penniless and had been unable to secure a home.

The rooms were comfortable in good weather and when it rained Mrs. Osborne allowed the family to use two rooms in her house.

Sunday night, according to Mrs. Osborne, Reed entered the apartment in which she and her son were sitting and began to abuse her and the boy. According to Mrs. Osborne the man was intoxicated. She begged him to leave the room, but in vain.

At length the boy, angered by the man's language to his mother, attacked Reed and, despite his superior weight and strength, succeeded in ejecting him from the room.

Half an hour later the boy went to a house a block from his own on an errand for him mother. He was returning and was about 50 yards from his home when he was struck in the face by a brick.

He fell to the ground unconscious. The blow had cut a gash across his nose and the lower part of his forehead.

His mother, who had been watching out the window for his return, saw him fall. With a cry she rushed from the house. She saw Reed running away.

Mrs. Osborne summoned aid and the boy was taken to the North End Dispensary. He did not regain consciousness until he had been there an hour, when he was taken back to his home.

Half an hour after the assault Reed was found terribly beaten and bruised, sitting on a doorstep a few houses from Mrs. Osborne's. He was scarcely able to talk, but mumbled that he did not know who had attacked him. He said he had been unconscious. He was sent to the hospital.

Monday morning, his head and face bandaged, Reed was arraigned before Judge Pollard in the Dayton street police court, and fined $50 and sentenced to the workhouse. He will be allowed to remain at the hospital until his wounds have partly healed.

The attack on Reed is a complete mystery. The police are unable to find any clew to his assailant, as it is not known that anyone besides the boy's mother saw him attack her son.

Struck by a Train

Fred Layman, living in the Ashley building, was knocked several feet and badly bruised by a Wabash train at the foot of Olive street Monday morning. Layman did not hear the air whistle, which was working vigorously. He was not seriously hurt.

Schmalz Challenges Spraul

William Schmalz, who wrestled 30 minutes to a draw with Theodore Spraul in the preliminary to the Baptiste-Adamson bout recently, is out with a challenge to his erstwhile opponent for a finish contest. Schmalz says Spraul can name all the conditions, including the amount of the side bet to be made.

Carnival Fully Opened

The carnival at Lemp's Park, conducted by the Mound City Amusement Association, whose membership is composed of 14 South Side business men, began Sunday with a satisfactory attendence. It is announced that those of the performers who failed to appear for the first show will arrive in time for the weekday exhibitions.

SLOW AND LOWER WERE GRAIN MARKETS

The Earlier Trading Was Very Slow at a Sharp Decline

BUT BETTER TONE DEVELOPED

Weather Conditions Favorable, Cables Generally Lower and Corn Receipts Large.

WHEAT—The market opened quietly this morning and at a slight sharp decline in prices, as compared with last Saturday's closing. The early advices were favorable from a selling standpoint, and during the first half hour or more traders ranged themselves on the selling side: though after the opening broke prices were quite well maintained. Liverpool opened ⅛d lower and later was quoted ⅝d off. Receipts were again small, compared with last year, being reported at 54,025 bu, against 197,120 bu, but the weather conditions were favorable. There were few, if any, supporting influences aside from the long interest and trading for some time after the opening was of a quiet order. Dec. opend ⅝@¾c lower, at 81⅝c, but on some good buying support went quickly to 82c, touched 82¼c and the buying letting up went to 81⅞c. May was ½c lower, at 82⅞c, and after selling at 83⅛c declined to 82⅞c.

WHEAT—Awaiting the posting of the visible supply figures, trading slowed down materially, no life was shown in the pit and price changes were small. The undertone was comparatively firm, however, there being no selling pressure, and December sold in a quiet way at 82c, off to 81⅝c and back to 82¼c. The range for May was from 83c to 83⅛c, off to 82⅝c, and back to 83⅛c. September was quoted at 81⅝c to 81⅞c. Wheat at Liverpool closed ½d lower and at Paris unchanged, flour being 15c higher. Primary receipts, Milwaukee out, were 1,121,895 bu, shipments 300,630 bu. The visible supply when posted showed an increase of 1,312,000 bu, but had no effect the market showing more strength than weakness, December selling at 82¼c to 82c back to 82¼c and May at 82⅞c to 83⅛c. Clearances were 550,560 bu. There was little to the market late, it being shown, with sales of December at 82c to 81⅞c, closing at 82c. May selling at 83⅛c to 82⅞c, closing at 83c bid.

Cash market—Received 20 sacks, 57 cars local and 3 through. Market, by sample, No. 2 red 85@86c; No. 3 83@85c; No. 4 78@82c; No. 2 hard 77@79c; No. 3 hard 73@77c.

CORN—Not much interest manifested in this grain around the opening and the amount of dealing was insignificant. The sentiment was much less bullish, conditions, as a rule, being favorable to the bear side, though there was no great rush to sell. The weather map was favorable; there was a ⅛d decline reported at Liverpool and the receipts were large at 72,230 bu, against only 15,500 bu a year ago. The opening was quiet, at a decline of a full ⅛c, at 42⅝c, from which the market sold off to 42½c, and later to 42⅝c and back to 42½c again. May opened ⅜c off at 43⅛c, selling up to 43⅜c and off to 43⅛c.

CORN—This market continued to drag along in a slow half-hearted way, but at the same time held up well. Dec. selling back to 42⅝c and May at 43⅛@43¼c, while Sept. opened at 45½c, brought 46c and eased off to 45⅝c. Liverpool cables were ¼d lower at close. Primary receipts 740,600 bu, shipments 687,355 bu; Milwaukee not reported. There was an increase in the visible of 419,000 bu and the market held steady at 32⅝c bid Dec., and May selling at 43⅛@43¼c. The export clearances were 93,468 bu. There was but little interest taken late, but the market was steady. Dec. selling at 42⅝@42½c, and closing at 42⅝c, the same as it opened, while May closed at 43½c.

Cash market—Received, 1172 sacks; 62 cars local and 15 through. Lower. By sample. No. 2 45@46c; No. 3 44½@45c; No. 2 yellow 47c; No. 3 yellow 45½@46c; No. 2 white 45¼@46c; No. 3 white 45@45½c.

OATS—This market was a dead one this morning and nothing was done the first hour or more. Receipts were fairly large at 54,000 bu, against 86,400 bu a year ago.

OATS—There was no more life in this market later than there was early, and no changes in price recorded, May selling at 57½c. Primary receipts were 590,524 bu; shipments 199,653 bu. The visible showed a decrease of 781,000 bu. Clearances were 18,891 bu. The close for Dec. was 36c bid and May 57½c.

Received 30 cars local and 10 through. Stronger. By sample—No. 2 39@39½c; No. 3 38@38½c; No. 4 36@37c; No. 2 white 41½@42c; No. 3 do 40@41c; No. 4 do 38@40c.

RYE—Quiet and quoted at 5?c to 5?c for No. 2.

Trade Topics.

The trading on Change in 1000 bushel lots or multiples thereof has turned out to be more of a success than its most sanguine friends anticipated and from now on will be a regular feature of the Exchange. According to the figures obtained from the books of the various firm trading by J. H. Farley, the originator of the scheme, since Sept. 22 to closing market last Saturday 26, five days, the aggregrate trades amounted to 854,000 bu, one alone trading in 416,000 bu.

The Orange Judd Farmer estimates the hay crop this year at 57,809,000 tons, compared with the official estimate last year of 59,857,000 tons.

Grain on passage to United Kingdom, wheat and flour 14,960,000 bu, last week 14,400,000; corn 10,540,000 bu, against 11,305,000 bu a week ago. To continent, wheat and flour 13,600,000 bu, against 13,440,000 bu; corn 8,160,000 bu, against 9,265,000 bu. Wheat increase 72,000 bu, compared with 94,000 bu last week; corn decrease 1,870,000 bu, against 68,000 bu a week ago.

Liverpool—Wheat: The opening was quiet at ⅛c decline and later in the morning prices further lost ¼c and ⅜c, owing to the unexpectedly heavy Indian shipments and continued large shipments from Russia. This induced some reselling by recent buyers, which accentuated the easiness. Corn—Opening prices unchanged to ½c higher; market being without feature. Later in session distant month lost ¼c in sympathy with wheat.

The first line of quotations in each class is calculated to represent the full range from common to extra. Dealers, however, often classify superlative bunches (all tops) for buyers, which sometimes sell considerably above the highest quotations. The second line of quotations signifies the bulk of sales and generally represents the various classes as they are sold on the commission market, more or less mixed.

GRAIN MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Wheat opened weak, with December ⅜c lower at 76⅝@76¾c. Heavy world's shipments, weak cables, large increase on passage and favorable weather were the influences. Considerable long wheat came out at the start, but strength in the St. Louis market Saturday caused free covering by shorts and commission houses also bought, advancing the whole list of futures. December during the first hour sold up to 77⅛c. Receipts at Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago were 964 cars.

Corn opened easy on lower cables and favorable weather. December started ⅛@⅜c lower at 45⅝@45¾. Pit scalpers took offerings in sufficient quantities to advance the price to 45⅞@45⅞c. Receipts, 1067 cars.

Oats opened weak, with December ⅛@¼c to ⅜c lower at 37@37⅛c to 37¼c. The market held steady for a time within the opening range, the trading being dull. Receipts were 269 cars.

The provision market was dull, although opening prices showed a steady feeling. October pork showed a gain of 15c at the start, at $12.10, with October lard 2½c lower, at $7.50, and ribs unchanged at $9.20.

Pigeon Dies From Exhaustion.

A tag bearing the inscription, "1903, G. W. H.," was found attached to the leg of a homing pigeon which fell dead in the yard of Chas. W. Wenige, Sidney street and Virginia avenue, after what was, judging from the bird's emaciated condition, an unusually long journey. Mr. Wenige is retaining the tag in the hope that the owner of the pigeon may hear of it.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL'S REPORT

The Annual Report for the Past Year Shows Heavy Expenditures for Betterments.

The annual report of the Illinois Central Railroad for the fiscal year ending June 30 is at hand and makes some interesting showings.

The report shows that during the past year the company has operated 4394 miles of railroads, has added 66.81 miles of second track to its lines, has purchased 46 new locomotives, 27 passenger cars and 3966 freight cars in addition to those bought or built to replace old ones.

The company carries most of its own insurance, and the report shows that the insurance fund now has $1,480,539 to its credit. During the year the fund has received from interest on securities owned by the fund $56,580 and paid fire losses to the amount of $49,050, showing a profit on the year's business.

The receipts and expenditures were as follows:

Gross receipts from traffic	$45,186,076.86
Expenses of operation	29,835,883.03
Taxes	1,862,072.02
Income from traffic, being the excess of receipts over expenses of operation and taxes	13,488,121.40
Net receipts from sale of lands	15,830.31
Income from investments and miscellaneous profits	3,445,317.51
Excess of income over expenses of operation and taxes	16,949,269.34
From this there have been paid:
Interest on funded debt and bonds drawn under sinking fund	3,049,749.00
Rent of subsidiary railroads	3,170,126.21
Net income for the year ended June 30, 1903	10,729,393.13
Surplus dividend fund brought forward June 30, 1903, as shown in last report	1,132,446.92
Amount available	11,861,840.05
This has been disposed of as follows:
96th semi-annual cash dividend, paid March 2, 1903	2,851,200.00
97th semi-annual cash dividend, payable Sept. 1, 1903	2,851,200.00
Set apart from income to provide for the difference between $3,100,000 (£620,000) of sterling sinking fund 5 per cent bonds, due April 1, 1903, and the $3,000,000 of 3½ per cent gold bonds, due 1951, which were issued in extension of a part of them	100,000.00
For betterments	4,881,253.13
Carried forward to surplus dividend fund, as of June 30, 1903, and set apart as applicable to future dividends	1,178,186.92

WHEAT GROWS ON STREET.

Up Through the Pavement Venture the Little Green Blades.

At one of the busiest corners of St. Louis, Broadway and Olive street, grass grew on the street Monday morning.

Not exactly grass, but its more useful sister, wheat. The little blades, one inch tall, stood up between the street car tracks unconscious of the fact that there were no stubbles about and that their lives would last only until the next visit of the street sweeper.

They were as green as the wheat that is looking up from the Missouri wheat fields. Busy feet walked near them, wagons went up and down, but the little visitors did their best to grow into tall yellow stalks.

Confederate Daughters Meet.

The delegation of the United Daughters of the Confederacy departed Monday morning for Higginsville to spend the day with the Confederate vterans. Thence they will go to Lexington for their convention on Wednesday. The party consisted of Mrs. Annie Washington Rapley, state president; Mrs. Robert C. Wilson, president of Cape Girardeau chapter, and Mrs. W. P. Howard, treasurer of Margaret A. E. McLure chapter; Mrs. Frank Gaiennie, state secretary; Mrs. Leslie Marmaduke, Mrs. Geo. Tyler and Mrs. William Beall will depart Tuesday. Judge Gantt will address the United Daughters.

PRESIDENT ON WAY TO WASHINGTON

With Mrs. Roosevelt and His Family He Bids Adieu to Sagamore Hill.

NEIGHBORS BADE HIM GOOD-BY

The Journey Is Made in a Private Car, Train Leaving Oyster Bay at 8:30 A. M.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 28.—President Roosevelt's summer sojourn at Sagamore Hill was concluded today when at 8:30 o'clock he boarded a train en route to Washington. He has been absent from the capital for 13 weeks and two days and returns in the expectation of remaining there practically uninterrupted until next June.

When the President, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and their children—Ethel, Archie and Quentin—arrived at the Oyster Bay station he was greeted with cheers from a great crowd of townsfolk, who had gathered to say farewell.

The President acknowledged the greeting by tipping his hat and bowing as he passed across the platform to his train, a special of two cars.

The President and his family occupied the private car of President Baldwin of the Long Island railroad. In addition to the President and family the party included Secretary and Mrs. Loeb, members of the executive staff, representatives of the press associations and secret service officers. As the train pulled out at 8:30 it was followed by the cheers of the crowd while the President stood on the rear platform of his car bowing acknowledgments.

It is the President's intention to return to Oyster Bay early next summer. In the event of his nomination for the presidency he will remain there throughout the summer and autumn until after the November elections. As yet, he has perfected no plans for the presidential campaign. He has no intention of participating actively in it. It is likely, however, that he will deliver some addresses here.

Canal Exhibit Is Heavy.

W. C. Teichmann, former city chemist, and Prof. Edward H. Keiser of Washington University are in Chicago at the request of Attorney-General Crow to testify before the United States commissioner, who is hearing evidence in the drainage canal injunction suit. The St. Louis chemists carried with them several hundred pounds of maps and charts to illustrate their testimony, which will oppose that of Prof. John H. Long, given in favor of the purity of Illinois river water after the introduction of drainage canal water into it.

DIZZY CONDUCTOR FALLS FROM CAR

Bellefontaine Line Employe Is Found Unconscious Several Minutes After His Plunge.

V. H. Young, a transit conductor on the Bellefontaine line, is at the City Hospital as a result of a fall from his car at Grand and Flora avenues on the first trip Monday morning.

Young fell from the rear platform while the car was going north from the sheds on South Grand avenue, preparatory to beginning its day's run, and was found several minutes later by a teamster.

Young, recovering consciousness just before the arrival of the ambulance, said his only recollection of the accident was that he became dizzy while on the platform. He does not remember the fall.

His motorman, Edward O'Brien, did not miss him and continued on his way.

CONSTABLE STABBED IN FIGHT

Felix McAdams, Suffering With a Deep Gash, Refuses to Tell Who Assaulted Him.

Felix McAdams, a deputy constable in Justice Cullinane's court, was stabbed in the left leg during a fight with an unidentified man at Seventeenth and Mullanphy streets early Monday morning.

McAdams, who is at the City Hospital, refuses to give the name of his assailant or to tell the cause of the fight. Edward Burkhardt, 19 years old, of 1226 Madison street and Henry Johnson, 22 years old, of 1220 Madison street are under arrest. Both deny knowledge of the fight. McAdams has a wound three inches long and one inch deep. He lives at 1448 North Eleventh street.

MAY CLOSE PACKING HOUSES

Employes Threaten to Strike for New Wage Scale.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Every packing house plant in the United States is threatened with a tieup by a general strike of butchers and affiliated workmen throughout the country for the first time in history unless the owners yield to the demand of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America.

While the packers are willing to pay the wages asked a hitch in negotiations has arisen over the demand of the packers that the butchers increase their amount of work. Every lodge of butchers in the country has been asked to vote on the demand of the packers, and meetings will be held for the purpose throughout the country. If the vote shall be unfavorable it is likely a general strike will be ordered affecting more than 50,000 men.

MAKING OVER A "CRISIS" SCENE

St. Louis Paints and Cleans and Repairs Her Famous Old Courthouse.

OF MUCH INTEREST TO GUESTS

Visitors Want to Stand on the Steps Where the Beautiful Slave Girl Was Sold to Stephen Brice

The city is spending $14,000 in renovating the interior of the courthouse and additional appropriations will be asked to repaint and make generally presentable to World's Fair visitors the historic half-century-old building that Winston Churchill immortalized in "The Crisis."

Already visitors of prominence who have read the St. Louisan's successful novel inquire the location of the courthouse almost in the same breath with which they ask the location of the World's Fair grounds.

When Hallie Erminie Rives, the author of "Hearts Courageous," was in St. Louis several months ago, she left the Planters' Hotel in a cold, drizzling rain to gaze at the grimy old temple of litigation, because of the interest Mr. Churchill's description of Stephen Brice's first visit there had aroused.

When Masanao Hanihara of the Japanese legation in Washington was in St. Louis a few weeks ago, and St. Louis friends were telling him the points of interest, he remarked:

"But I wish to see the courthouse, too. Is the same courthouse still here that is written about in 'The Crisis'?"

The courthouse has never excited the enthusiastic admiration of the present generation. Though frequently painted its exterior is generally very dirty. Its interior, too, has been crowded, dusty, poorly-arranged for its present purposes and generally unattractive.

For that reason it has never been pointed out as one of the show places of St. Louis. But in the World's Fair year, St. Louisans will not be ashamed to indicate it to visitors.

The dust and grime of half a century are being removed. New furniture is being put in the courtrooms and the clerks' offices. New windows are being put in some of the courtrooms, and the appropriation provides for the cleaning and beautifying of the steps outside the old building.

The wide stone stairway leading to the Fourth street entrance to the building has been immortalized in "The Crisis." There it was that Stephen Brice bought Hester, the beautiful quadroon slave, paying all the money in his possession for her and then setting her free.

It Was Grimy Even in "The Crisis" Days.

According to Mr. Churchill the courthouse in those days just before the civil war presented no more attractive appearance than it does now.

Describing the sale "in front of the wide entrance of the courthouse," he says, "the miserable human beings waiting to be sold at auction crouched against the walls and pillars of the building, already grimy with soot."

And the building was new then, for in another part of the same chapter, Mr. Churchill says, "its dome was indicated by staging" and one wing remained to be completed.

Those who have read the story of the slave sale recall that Stephen Brice went to the courthouse door after a visit to the office of Judge Silas Whipple. This office is described as having been "across from the building on Market street and in the middle of the block, with what had once been a golden hand pointing to it up a narrow dusty stairway."

Since the day of the slave sale there have been no alterations of the courthouse or of the steps on which Hester was sold or of the windows which Stephen Brice saw as he looked over on the courthouse from Judge Whipple's office.

These windows are now being torn out and new windows put in to make a properly respectable-looking courtroom for Judge Kinealy in the apartment on the first floor of the west half of the Market street wing. Work on the steps has not yet begun.

MECHANICS ARE REJUVENATING ST. LOUIS' HISTORIC COURTHOUSE

THREE OF JOVIAL QUARTET IN CELL

Fourth Man Says Others Robbed Him of His Chain and Locket.

A dance, a few cooling and warming drafts, an alleged insult to a friend.

This was the prelude.

Monday morning three young men were prisoners in the Angelica Street Police Station and another young man was under the care of a physician skilled in the dressing of cuts and bruises incidental to a street fight.

Frederick Cast, 18 years old, of 4218 Natural Bridge road, will be charged with highway robbery if Emil Bruner, who stops at 504 Market street, is successful in securing the warrant he desires. Bruner is the victim in the case.

Samuel Sherman and Andrew Shanefelt, companions of Cast, are held by the police, but deny knowledge of any theft. They admit there was a scrimmage at Lee and Fair avenues, in which Bruner received punishment.

Bruner identifies Cast as the man who took from him a chain to which was attached a silver locket. Cast denies the charge.

After leaving the dance at Hoehn's Grove, where Bruner is said to have insulted a friend of Cast's, the four men made their way to Lee and Fair avenues, Bruner evidently being in advance of the trio. At that corner, Bruner says, he waited for a car and was abused and driven away by his pursuers. He came back in another attempt to make connections with the transit service.

This time, he insists, the trio ordered him to give up whatever of value he might have on his person. Being a victim from temporary financial stringency, he says he parted with his chain and locket. In return, Bruner declares, he was beaten in an outrageous manner.

Hundreds Visit Altenheim.

The annual festival in the interest of the Altenheim, held at the grounds of the home at 5408-5450 South Broadway, was attended by hundreds of friends of the institution. An interested visitor was W. H. McClain, manager of the St. Louis Provident Association. Supper was served and the ladies at booths sold various pretty and useful trinkets. In the society are 1000 ladies and 900 men, whose dues help to support the institution. Gustav Cramer, president of the society, escorted visitors through the buildings.

Suitor Twice Arrested.

Herman Boehme, 50 years old, of 1409 South Seventh street is under arrest on complaint of Mrs. Louisa Kent of the same address. Mrs. Kent charges that Boehme's persistence as a suitor annoyed her. When she sent him away, she says, he fired a shot through her window and afterward sent an offensive postal card concerning her to Martin Rohome of 1809 South Eighth street.

TEARS MONEY TO BITS IN STRUGGLE

Attacked by a Giantess, Who Tries to Rob Him, This Man Fights Gamely.

Joseph Drauer of 3238 Olive street was stopped by a giant negress, whom he describes as being six feet tall and weighing 200 pounds, dragged into an alley at Fifteenth and Olive streets last night and robbed of a wallet containing $220 in bills.

Drauer says he struggled with the woman whose attack was made after she had asked him to direct her to a certain street, and that in the struggle the bills, all except on $20, were torn to bits.

The negress escaped with the $20 bill and Drauer picked up the pieces of the others, which he showed to the police at the Four Courts.

He will present the torn money at the federal building today and request whole bills.

He was able to give no description of the negress except as to her great size, and the police are looking for a negress of giant dimensions.

KITTENS ARE DOG'S CHARGE

Fox Terrier Worried by Foster Children's Fondness for Tree Climbing.

If Beauty, the handsome fox terrier belonging to George Rinkel of 1475 Hamilton avenue, could only break her adopted children, two castaway kittens of the surprising habit of climbing trees, she would be content. As it is she is proud of the fuzzy little acrobats which she has nursed and fondled since they were brought to the Rinkel home eight months ago; but she cannot become reconciled to the way they have of going into danger by leaving terra firma.

Beauty did not like the kittens when they first made their motherless appearance on the scene. But soon she adopted them and became a more devoted mother than the most maternally inclined feline could have become. She nursed them carefully through babyhood and her delight in their first mouse was only dimmed by her disappointment at their failure to join her in her gleeful barkings. They reciprocate her affection in many kittenish ways.

HUSBANDS WIELD FURNITURE.

Chair and Broom Used in Beating Two Women

Hamilton McCaudles attacked his wife with the family broom at their home, 4161½ North Grand avenue, Sunday. Domestic disagreements were the cause of the quarrel. Mrs. McCaudles was taken to the City Hospital as a result of the broom episode and McCaudles was arrested.

After striking his wife with a chair William Patton escaped from his home, 1217 Merchant street, Sunday and the police have thus far been unable to locate him. His wife lies at the City Hospital with a bruised hip. She intends to prosecute Patton.

KANSAS TEACHERS WIN COURTING WAR

School Board Hostile to Cupid Overthrown and Friends of Little God Elected.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 28.—Returns from the recent school elections over Kansas show that the ruling of schoolboards that young women teachers shall not receive attentions from young men during the school term has been upset at the polls.

The movement to prevent courting was started in a district in Chautauqua County. It spread rapidly and soon the women teachers who had men callers were in danger of losing their positions.

At the State Teachers' Association last winter the young women set up a scheme to outwit the men on school boards. They planned to make a quiet campaign among the housewives and other women in every community where courting has been barred.

This was done while the men were engaged in the wheat harvest. The teachers had the enthusiastic support of their sisters everywhere, and the result was that, when the elections were held, the women voters outnumbered the men two to one. In the anti-courting districts, full boards of women were elected, and they already have rescinded the obnoxious order.

The men, who were defeated, claimed that courting interfered with school work, but the teachers said the contention was foolish.

Of the 12,000 teachers of Kansas, 9000 are women.

NINE ARE KILLED IN WRECK

Train Running at Rapid Speed Jumped From a Curved Trestle Into Creek.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Sept. 28.—While running at a high rate of speed a southbound fast mail train on the Southern railway jumped from a trestle 75 feet high, north of Danville, Va., yesterday afternoon and was almost demolished. Of the crew of 16 men, including mail carriers, nine were killed and seven injured. The dead: Engineer J. A. Brodie of Placerville, Va.; Fireman Clarence White, Conductor Tom Blair and Mail Clerks J. L. Thompson, W. T. Chambers, D. T. Flory and P. N. Ardanwright, and a flagman and a brakeman whose names are not known.

The trestle where the accident occurred is 500 feet long and is on a sharp curve. Engineer Brodie was a new man on that division of the Southern, and thus came to the curve at high speed.

The locomotive had gone only about fifty feet on the trestle when it sprang from the track, carrying with it four mail cars and an express car. The trestle, a wooden structure, also gave way for a space of 50 feet.

At the foot of the trestle is a shallow stream with a rocky bottom. Striking this the locomotive and the cars were reduced to a mass of twisted iron and steel and pieces of splintered wood. As the cars went down they scraped the sides of the Riverside Cotton Mill.

THEY REFUSE TO BE THWARTED

Missouri Sweethearts Recognize No Obstacles in Effort to Be Married

Despite mud, a wreck, rain, half-holidays and the illness of a preacher's wife, Edward Carnes of Popular Bluff, Mo., and Miss Cora Harrison of Eldon, Mo., were married at Clayton. They had planned to have the ceremony performed in Clayton, but could not find the marriage license clerk. A derailed mail car interfered with their journey to Clayton, and led to the tumble of the best man, Arthur Reinhard, into a muddy ditch when he attempted to assist the bridemaid, Miss Brooks Harrison, a sister of the bride. After the license had been secured one minister refused to perform the ceremony because of the illness of his wife. When the newly married couple returned to St. Louis, they found that they had missed the train on which they expected to depart, but they were happy.

NEW YORK'S GREAT DISPLAY.

Commissioner Promises That Past Exhibits Will Be Surpassed.

Col. Edward Lyman Bill, treasurer of the New York World's Fair commission, visited the Fair Grounds Monday to confer with President Francis about the Empire state's representation at the Exposition.

Col. Bill will spend several days in the city and arrange locations for the New York agricultural, horticultural and other exhibits. He is registered at the Planters' Hotel. Col. Bill promises that the state will have a much finer display than at the Chicago fair.

Burglars Rob Railway Safe.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., Sept. 28.—Burglars at 4 o'clock this morning blew open the safe in the M., K. & T. depot at Pilot Grove, Cooper County, and secured about $30. The safe in Meyer Bros.' drug store was also ruined by the thieves, but they failed to blow it open. The dynamite used was obtained by breaking into Schilbecker's hardware store.

BLOCK CHILD WITH FATHER

Little Lillie May Is Made to Believe That Her Departure Is Only for a Day.

Thinking that she was going just for a day, Lillie May Block went quietly from the home of her mother, Mrs. Jennie Block of 1507 Morgan street, to that of her father, John Block, 4036 Olive street, Monday morning.

She was accompanied by Mrs. L. Wing, a friend and neighbor of her mother. She refused to eat breakfast when she learned that she must leave her mother, but when told that she was only going after her doll buggy she was pacified.

Her little brothers expect her to return tonight. She will not return until Sunday and then only for a day. Her father was given temporary possession of her Saturday, but she cried so piteously in court that she was granted another day with her mother.

Lillie's mother took her to her father Sunday evening, but the scene of the courtroom was repeated. The father permitted her to go home with her mother for one more night.

MAKES WAY WITH MANY PENS.

Robber Gains Mysterious Entrance to a Stationery Store.

When the stationery firm of Skinner & Kennedy, at 410 North Fourth street, opened for business Monday morning, the discovery was made that some time during the night a light-fingered individual, addicted perhaps to frequent trials of penmanship, had made his way into the place and carried away fountain pens to the value of $250. A few pocketbooks were also missing.

The doors and windows of the store were secure as when the firm closed Saturday night, and there was nothing to indicate how the burglar gained entrance. Officers detailed to investigate believe that a duplicate key was used by the intruder and that it had been furnished to him by some one familiar with the premises.

Memorial by Odd Fellows.

Memorial services in honor of the late W. G. H. Curtis, ex-grand treasurer of the United Order of Colored Odd Fellows, was held by the various St. Louis organizations of the order at the hall, Twelfth and Pine streets. Geo. E. Temple, deputy grand master of America, conducted the exercises; Noah Smith of lodge No. 1547, presided. Others who took part in the ceremonies were: Rev. Nathaniel Williams, Edward S. Lewis, of Kansas City, R. D. Brown of New York, Anthony S. Haskell of St. Louis, Miss Lelie B. Ross, Louisa Young, John L. Brewer, Elias Butler, Mrs. Mamie Edwards, Mrs. A. R. Sydner and Rev. A. E. Liggins.

Big Purse for St. Ann's.

The bazaar for the benefit of St. Ann's asylum will be opened in Pickwick theater November 30, and will continue until December 5. A suggestion by Rev. Fr. Rogers, S. J., for raising a $25,000 purse has been received with approval. The plan is for 100 men to subscribe $25 each and to get nine other men each to subscribe the same amount.

Rheumatism
Is Not a Skin Disease.

Most people have an idea that Rheumatism is contracted like a cold, that the damp, chilly air penetrates the muscles and joints and causes the terrible aches and pains, or that it is something like a skin disease to be rubbed away with liniments or drawn out with plasters; but Rheumatism originates in the blood and is caused by Urea, or Uric Acid, an irritating, corroding poison that settles in muscles, joints and nerves, producing inflammation and soreness and the sharp, cutting pains peculiar to this distressing disease.

Exposure to bad weather or sudden chilling of the body will hasten an attack of Rheumatism after the blood and system are in the right condition for it to develop, but have nothing to do with the real true causes of Rheumatism, which are internal and not external.

Liniments, plasters and rubbing will sometimes reduce the inflammation and swelling and ease the pain for a time, but fail to relieve permanently because they do not reach the seat of the trouble.

Bowling Green, Ky.

About a year ago I was attacked by acute rheumatism in my shoulders, arms and legs below the knee. I could not raise my arm to comb my hair. Doctors prescribed for me for over two months without giving me any relief. I saw S. S. S. advertised and decided to try it. Immediately I commenced its use I felt better, and remarked to mother that I was glad I had at last found some relief. I continued its use and am entirely well. I will always feel deeply interested in the success of S. S. S. since it did me so much good.

311 12th St. MRS. ALICE HORTON.

SSS S. S. S. cures Rheumatism because it attacks it in the blood, and the Uric Acid poison is neutralized, the sluggish circulation stimulated and quickened, and soon the system is purified and cleansed, the aching muscles and joints are relieved of all irritating matter and a lasting cure effected.

S. S. S. is a harmless vegetable remedy, unequalled as a blood purifier and an invigorating, pleasant tonic. Book on Rheumatism will be mailed free.
